Find County Roads In 'Worst Shape In Years'

OFFICIALS SAY FUNDS LACKING FOR REPAIRS

Unusual Weather Blamed For Damage Which Will Run Into Thousands.

MANY ROUTES IMPASSABLE

Rebuilding of System Out of Question Unless Money's Borrowed, They Assert.

Unusual weather conditions have broken up Richland county's roads so badly they are in the "worst condition in years," and the county is far short of funds for an adequate repair program, the county commissioners and County Engineer Howard C. Sword said today.

The county's secondary routes in many sections are impassable and even the hard-surfaced roads have started to go to pieces under the frost onslaught Sword said.

While both the commissioners and the engineer explained it is impossible to estimate the extent of damage to the road system, they said it would run "into thousands of dollars."

$200,000 Available.

With less than $200,000 available in 1938 for the county's entire maintenance program, they added that it will be impossible to repair a number of the secondary routes this year without borrowing funds.

Road maintenance funds, available only from state gasoline tax and auto license fees, probably will amount to about $190,000 this year, officials estimated. Anything over that amount will have to come from the county fund, and the county is in no condition to spare the money, it was pointed out.

Rural residents from all sections of the county have been besieging the commissioners and engineer's office daily with requests for road repairs in their communities.

Mud Delays Work.

Sword said, however, that the muddy condition of most of the routes prevents the county maintenance department from starting any repair work.

"Not until the earth freezes or dries out will we be able to start the almost hopeless job of rebuilding the road system," he declared.

C. L. Mitchell, chairman of the board of commissioners, estimated that at least 150 miles of major

Legislature Set To Quit On Feb. 28 Adjournment Date

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Both branches of the legislature were ready to quit work until Feb 28, the agreed date for final adjournment.

Before recessing, the house was expected to act upon the revised relief administrative measures establishing a state relief director, prescribing qualifications for relief clients and appropriating funds to operate the state relief department.

If passed by the house, the relief bills then will go to the senate where they probably will have to await action in the final session.

The house also will take another whirl at the Ogrin bill to transfer the sales tax on liquor by the glass to all bottled liquors sold, both wholesale and retail, by the state stores. Yesterday, the house rejected the bill by a vote of 65 to 44. It lacked five votes required for passage.

Afterward it was revived by reconsideration. An identical bill has been passed by the senate, but if the house finally passes the Ogrin measure the senate also must pass it before it can go to the governor for approval.

MRS. HAHN ILL

Near Collapse After Hearing Court Rejected Plea.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Blond Anna Marie Hahn, doomed Cincinnati poison murderess, was today reported to be on the verge of a nervous collapse and under care of the Ohio prison physician.

Mrs. Hahn, under sentence to die in the electric chair on March 10, was said to have suffered an emotional setback after the court of appeals rejected a new trial plea.

$250,000,000 Relief Request Sent Congress

F. D. R. Says Current Fund Insufficient to Care For Needy.

OBJECTION BREWS

Lawmakers Ask Full Explanation of Extent of Needs.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—President Roosevelt asked congress today for immediate appropriation of $250,000,000 to meet relief needs during the next four and a half months.

"Funds available at this time," the president wrote Speaker Bankhead, "will not only not take care of the additional burden caused by the recent increase in unemployment but will require a sharp reduction in the near future of the number on the Works Progress Administration rolls."

WPA officials, anticipating the president's request, said most of the money would be used in industrial centers, especially the automobile manufacturing cities.

Has 497 Millions Now.

The money would be in addition to approximately $497,000,000 which WPA now has remaining from its original allotment for this fiscal year.

"The funds available on Jan. 1, 1938," said the president, "would permit employment of an average of only 1,700,000 persons for the six months eending June 30, 1938. The number of persons on the Works Progress Administration rolls today is 1,950,000."

WPA officials have reported that if additional funds were not forthcoming they planned to prune the rolls down to 1,500,000 by the end of the fiscal year. The WPA announced there were 68,479 more persons on federal relief on Jan 29 than there were a week before.

The president informed Bankhead that a deficiency appropriation of $250,000 000 would "permit the continued employment" during the remainder of the fiscal year, ending June 30, of persons now on work relief and would "provide a reasonable measure of relief for those who have recently become unemployed and are in need."

3,000,000 Lose Jobs.

The president said that according to the best available estimate "it appears that, during the past three months, approximately 3,000 000 persons have lost their jobs with private employers."

"It has become increasingly clear that these needs cannot be met unless employment by the Works Progress Administration is increased immediately."

Lamb With 2 Tails, 8 Legs Dies

URBANA—(INS) — Farmer Clyde Lee today mourned the loss of a freak of nature presented to him by his four-year-old Dorset ewe.

Allegedly the infant animal, which lived only five minutes, was supposed to be a lamb but certain discrepancies in its physical makeup created doubting comments.

The lamb had one head with two eyes and four ears, eight legs, two tails and two separate bodies growing from one trunk.

HUNT CLUES IN GANG KILLING

Chicago Police to Question Capone's Ex-Henchmen In Slot King's Murder.

(By United Press)

CHICAGO HEIGHTS, Ill. — State's attorney's police turned today to the remnants of Scarface Al Capone's gang, powerful during the prohibition heyday, in an attempt to track down three gunmen who used gangland's "handshake" technique to rub out Sam Costello, reputed head of a lucrative slot machine racket.

The executioners, disguised in hunting attire, invaded a Chicago Heights, bakery yesterday and with flourish reminiscent of the St. Valentine's day massacre in Chicago nine years ago, killed Costello and wounded three of his associates. The victim was a brother of Charles Costello, described by investigators as the "Capone of Chicago Heights."

When Sam died he wore a diamond-studded belt buckle, the type Capone gave to his close friends during the height of his regime.

At St James hospital where the wounded were treated, 18 grim men gathered in a corridor last

GUARD RUSHED

British Gunboat Speeds to Ship at Yangtze Port.

SHANGHAI—(INS)—The British gunboat Bee rushed to Wuhu, Yangtze river port south of Nanking, today to aid the gunboat Aphis in evacuating Britons and Americans should necessity arise.

Fears were felt for the safety of foreigners at Wuhu following Chinese claims that their troops had recaptured the city yesterday in bitter fighting. It was believed Suhu would become the center o. a ferocious battle should the Japanese attempt to wrest it from the Chinese.

Meanwhile, here in Shanghai, further terrorism arose when a bomb was thrown into the offices of the newspaper Hwameipao, causing considerable damage.

The paper is published by an American, Hal P. Mills. It is printed in the Chinese language and owned by Chinese interests.

SCHOONER SINKS

Racing Vessel Flounders While Being Towed to Port.

BOSTON—(INS)—The racing schooner Augusta Verde, owned by Francis A. Martin, jr., of Nantucket, sank 11 miles off Great Stirrup Cay in the Caribbean sea, according to radio dispatches received today.

The schooner which was entered in the Miami-to-Tassau sailing race, was being towed by the coast guard cutter Mojave because she was taking water.

Community Bargain Days To Open Tomorrow In City Stores

Mansfield merchants and their sales staffs were busy today making final plans for the opening of the mid-winter Community Bargain Days which will be held Friday and Saturday. This semi-annual merchandising event is expected to bring hundreds of shoppers from surrounding towns and rural sections to Mansfield.

With business conditions as they are, and dollars having to be stretched, Mansfield's Community Bargain Days, should take on a new importance, for the thrifty "budget-keeper" knows that in shopping around for real bargain lies real economy.

The stores promise some of the best bargains ever offered in the city. Several merchants will sell standard quality merchandise for less than 50 per cent of its regular prices. These prices, however, will be in effect only from the time the stores open Friday morning until they close on Saturday night.

Although bargains are being offered in practically all lines of merchandise, particularly noticeable are those in ready to wear clothing, shoes, household linens and furniture.

More than 50 firms are participating in the Bargain Days and these will be plainly marked for shoppers with yellow cards and pennants.

The Mansfield Rapid Transit company will add impetus to the shopping event by giving free bus rides downtown on Friday morning from 9 to 11. This is good only for the downtown trip. Children must be accompanied by an adult.

Parking courtesies will be extended to out of town shoppers. Coupons which they may use to to designate their cars will be found in today's issue of The News-Journal, along with detailed announcements of bargains and where to find them.

Former Swim Star Found Dead

William King ...questioned

Harriett Nielson ...slaying victim

Charge of homicide was placed against William King, 45-year-old WPA musician, following the discovery of the battered body of Mrs. Harriett Brown Nielson, 35-year-old former diving star and stage actress in a New York rooming house. Police said King admitted striking Mrs. Nielson after she hit him in the face with an empty bottle during a drinking party. King is shown, his face covered, at left, and a late photo of Mrs. Nielson is at right.

Smallpox Downs Five In Mifflin Township Family

Seven More Cases Reported Today, All In Madison Township; State Doctors Leave City.

The county's smallpox cases mounting at the rate of five a day, totaled 35 when seven more cases of the disease were reported by the health department in the past 24 hours.

Of the latest cases, all children, five are in a Mifflin township family where both parents have been under quarantine. The other two reported are Madison township high school students.

All Under Quarantine.

Those reported are the five children of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Nell, of Mifflin township. They are Charles, 5, Louise, 2; Donald, 4, Margaret, 8, and Robert, 7. Margaret and Robert are students at the Buena Vista school, but the entire family has been under quarantine at their home since their parents' illness was diagnosed as smallpox last Friday. The other two are Jack Fletcher, 14, of R. D. 2, and Martha Phillipon, 16, of Ridge road, both students at Madison township high school.

This brings to a total of 25 cases of smallpox in the county while the city figure remains at 10, with no new cases reported in the past 24 hours.

Health authorities, laboring until late at night, continued their immunization program in the school system when they moved back to the city schools to-

JURY CONVENES

Considers Case of Grafton Killer Suspect Tomorrow.

ELYRIA—(INS)—The Lorain county grand jury convened here today, and will consider the case of Edward Hensley, alleged confessed slayer of 19-year-old Louise Hornbeck in nearby Grafton Oct. 18, tomorrow.

Prosecutor Howard Butler first said the case would be considered today, but later delayed consideration. It was reported Butler was making further investigation into Hensley's criminal record in Youngstown.

Hensley, 22-year-old trusty at the Grafton prison farm, was lodged today in the Loram city jail, nine miles north of here. The move from county jail here, according to Sheriff William Grall, was precautionary, as some threat against Hensley had been reported in Grafton. No trouble was expected, however, Grall said.

LAGGING TAX COLLECTIONS 'PINCH' COUNTY

Auditor Sees 'Hand-to-Mouth' Existence This Year to Keep Out of Red.

DELAY IN PAYDAYS LOOMS

Revenue Picture Anything But Bright, Wolfe Says; Extra Demands on Funds Cited.

Beginning the year with a general fund balance of about $400, Richland county is beginning to feel the pinch of the business recession and county employes may have to wait for their pay checks before the year is very old, County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said today.

Although the county's general fund appropriation was boosted about $27,000 to $331,000 this year, tax collections are lagging, Wolfe said, and the indications are that it will be a "hand-to-mouth" existence throughout the year if the county is to stay out of the red.

Get Next Checks On Time.

County employes will receive their checks, totaling about $3,000, next Tuesday, the mid-February payday, but after that checks may be delayed at any time, Wolfe said.

"With some economizing, we hope to keep as nearly as possible on the pay schedule, but it all depends on how the tax collections hold up," he continued.

"For several years the county has had no surplus, and extra demands on the general fund this year, plus the dark industrial picture, make the future anything but bright," the auditor added.

Increase Used Up.

The major part of the general fund increase is to provide for the care of the dependent children and needy blind, for treatment for tuberculosis patients, a $5,500 payment on a state debt and $2,250 for Muskingum Conservancy benefit payments.

In setting up the increased appropriation, the commissioners and auditor looked for better collections of taxes than in 1937, including delinquencies, to make up the difference, Wolfe said.

In almost direct contrast, collections so far are showing a decline.

Within the next month, it will be possible to draw on the first-half real estate tax collection, which will ease the financial pressure temporarily, Wolfe added.

REVIVES BILL

House Abandons Plan to Delay New Wage-Hour Measure.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Plans for long delay in starting the drive for wage-hour legislation were abandoned by the house labor committee today in response to administration demands for action.

Chairman Mary T. Norton (D) of New Jersey, announced the committee will begin work on a revised wage-hour bill next week. Previously, she had suggested that members who voted against the bill in the special session be allowed to "stew around awhile."

President Roosevelt was said to have requested house leaders to begin action in the hope that congress will enact a bill before adjournment.

GALE THWARTS ARCTIC RESCUE

Dog Team Blocked With Aid for Soviet Scientists.

TROMSOE, Norway—(AP)—An Arctic gale today wiped out hope of a rescue by dog team of four Russian scientists who have drifted on an ice floe from the North Pole to a point off Greenland's east coast.

Yesterday the Russians reported they were within clear sight of the Greenland coast, and plans were made to send expeditions across the offshore ice from Norwegian and Danish stations along that coast. These were frustrated by the gale, which was reported blowing the Russians' small ice cake southward at the rate of 30 miles a day.

Experts here said the scientists' only hope of rescue was for their floe to remain intact.

Steel Pact Leaves Price Hike, Pay Cut Question Unanswered

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — The United States Steel corporation and the Committee for Industrial Organization, their 1937 labor contracts renewed indefinitely, left unanswered today the question of whether cuts in steel prices would force wage reductions.

The contracts, announced yesterday at the end of a three-day conference, left open the way for either a reduction or increase in wages at any time and even for termination of the agreements.

"We are of the opinion that the agreements definitely stem the tide of wage-slashing which has been imminent throughout the country," said Philip Murray, chairman of the steel workers organizing committee.

"Heretofore," he added, "there has been a decided hesitancy on the part of consumers to purchase steel, due to the belief in many circles that price-slashing would take place. This was to be followed by wage reductions."

Even before he spoke however several independent steel companies announced a cut of $4 a ton in the price of cold-reduced and oiled sheets. The Carnegie-Illinois Steel corporation, largest subsidiary of U. S. Steel, immediately met the new price.

Benjamin F. Fairless, president of U. S. Steel, recently warned the administration that government insistence on reduced prices necessarily would mean reduced wages.

The renewed contracts maintain existing provisions for a $5-a-day pay minimum, 40-hour week and time and a half for

LIBERALS SWEEP SCOUT ELECTION

Ralph Arlin to Be Mayor of City Tuesday as Boys Take Over Mansfield.

Headed by its mayoralty candidate, Eagle Scout Ralph Arlin, 16, the Liberal party swept into office every candidate on its ticket in the Boy Scout's own "city election" Tuesday night, defeating their Conservative opponents by a three to one majority.

The election was one of the highlights of the Mansfield observance of National Boy Scout week being celebrated throughout the nation this week by more than a million scouts, in observance of the 28th anniversary of the founding of the movement. Election results were announced at a meeting of scoutmasters and officials last night at scout headquarters.

"Mayor-elect" Arlin and his staff will take over all city offices next Tuesday, and will "run" the city government for the day, as a climax to their scout week celebration.

The other scouts who were swept into office in the Liberal "landslide" are Robert Curry, chief of police, who defeated his Conservative opponent, Jake Sternbaum, and Ralph Stanton who won the clerk of council post over Harry Laser. Scout Robert

RESUME DEBATE ON LIQUOR TAX

Ohio House Studies Bill to Abolish Levy on Glass Sales.

COLUMBUS — (INS) — The house was expected today to continue debate on a bill by Rep. Joseph A. Ogrin (D) Cuyahoga, which would abolish sales tax on liquor by the glass and impose it on liquor sold by the bottle.

Earlier the house killed the bill by a vote of 65 to 44, but then approved a motion to reconsider the vote. The senate already has passed an identical measure, but the house taxation committee held the senate bill and reported Ogrin's measure.

CLEARS PATH FOR PROBE OF STATE 'GRAFT'

Do Nothing to Test Legality of Inquiry, Governor Tells Purchasing Agent.

SUGGESTS BROAD QUIZ

Testimony of Contributions By Coal Operators Precedes Davey's Statements.

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The special senate graft-hunting committee agreed today to withdraw the contempt charge against Glenn A. Horn, state purchasing agent, upon Horn's promise to answer all committee questions.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Gov. Martin L. Davey opened the way today for the senate's graft-hunting committee to investigate all state departments without administration opposition.

The executive ordered Glenn A. Horn, state purchasing agent, to give the committee any information possible concerning the conduct of that office.

"Furthermore, I do not want any effort made to test the legality of the senate committee's existence," Davey said in a letter to Horn. The letter was considered a definite declaration of policy concerning the administration's attitude toward the inquiry.

Drop Court Action.

The governor's instructions were expected to result in the discontinuance of habeas corpus proceedings in common pleas court brought by Horn's attorney, Clarence M. Addison, to prevent the purchasing agent's trial before the senate for contempt.

Common Pleas Judge John R. King indicated he would give Horn the alternative of answering the committee's questions or standing trial.

"There must be nothing done by any state official or employes that could be construed by political enemies as an effort to delay or impede the progress of the inquisition," Davey added.

"I want to lay down a challenge to committee members to speed up their work and go into every possible phase of the state government business, and lay bare before the public gaze everything they can possibly find."

'Tell Simple Truth.'

"On the matter of coal purchases," Davey told Horn, "all you need to do is to tell the simple truth that you have followed the same policy that was established by Gov. Vic Donahey to buy coal mined at the fair market price, which policy has been followed consistently through the intervening years."

Horn had testified before the committee that he did not re-

BACKS BIG NAVY

Ashbrook to Support Request For Increased Force.

Congressman William A. Ashbrook, whose 17th Ohio district includes Richland county, will support the administration request for an increased naval force, Washington dispatches said today.

A poll of the Ohio delegation in congress showed that the majority of Buckeye legislators were in favor of a larger navy, although many qualified that statement by saying they favored the increase in power only if it were used for purely defensive purposes.

Commenting on his stand, Ashbrook said "It may seem inconsistent with my ideas about peace, but I believe an adequate defense is the best road to peace and I intend to support the bill."

BOSTON SUBURB THREADED INTO WORLD'S NEWS

Quincy, Mass., Oddly Linked To Many Stories Of Events With Wide Interest

QUINCY, Mass.—(U.P.)—Whether it occurs in India or Australia, the chances are that the next big news story of the year will have some feature that will link it to this Boston suburb.

This prediction is based on Quincy's record as reviewed by John Herbert, manager and editor of the Quincy Patriot-Ledger, the city's only newspaper.

Take the war in Spain, for instance. Nothing could be farther from Quincy, it seemed.

But Washington assigned a home-town boy to direct the evacuation of American refugees from Madrid. He was Eric C. Wendelin, third secretary of the American embassy. His family still lives in Quincy. Many of the refugees escaped on the U. S. S. Quincy, a cruiser built at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding company's Quincy plant.

When war broke out in China, Herbert was puzzled, but not for long. The American warship Augusta was bombed and aboard was a Quincy sailor.

Amelia Earhart Link.

Then there was the search for Amelia Earhart. This story bristled with Quincy angles. To begin with, Amelia not only learned to fly at Dennison airport here, but she made the curtains that still grace the airport office windows and she once peddled hot-dogs there.

The airplane carrier Lexington, likewise Quincy-built, daily sent hordes of scouting planes searching the Pacific for her.

Even President Roosevelt has a Quincy angle. As assistant secretary of the navy during the World war, he went to the Bethlehem plant to supervise launching of destroyers and there met Joseph P. Kennedy, then a shipyard executive. After he became president, Mr Roosevelt appointed Kennedy chairman of the securities and exchange commission and later heard of the maritime commission.

Perhaps the biggest news story in recent years was the abdication of King Edward VIII and his subsequent marriage to Wallis Warfield. As the wife of Commander Winfield Spencer of Quincy's Victory plant, she lived in the Wollaston section of Quincy.

150 AT MEETING

County Well Represented at Production Credit Session.

Approximately 150 Richland county members of the Ashland Production Credit association attended the organization's annual meeting at the First Methodist church in Ashland Tuesday.

Total attendance at the meeting was 779, the largest in the history of the organization.

One director, F. C. Schnell of Holmes county, was re-elected for three years. W. E. Stough of near Mansfield, is president of the association and the only Richland county member of the board of five directors.

The association, organized early in 1934, serves Ashland, Richland, Holmes, Knox and Wayne counties. Loans extended during the past year totaled $430,268, Stough's report showed.

CHAPTER XXV

"Yes?"

"Your Daddy and I were always—like that." The judge held up two fingers, pressed tightly together. "I loved him like a brother. I always advised him about things the best I knew how and he trusted me, he did. He'd tell you so, if he were here now."

"Uncle Pompey!" Caradad laid an affectionate hand on his arm. There was a suspicious quiver in her voice. "As if I didn't know that, my dear. Of course he trusted you—the same as I do Always."

"Then, maybe, you'll be willing to listen to the old man. Don't start shoveling money into that boy's pants pockets. Go slow. Keep your hands on the wallet strap. He'll respect you all the more when he finds out that you're a good business woman. I think I've made a good one out of you. So keep your head. Tell him you want to look into this and into that. If he's on the level, he'll be glad to hear it. Is that a promise?"

"I understand. It's a promise."

"Then here's more. Before you get married—see me. If you think you should make a settlement on him to salve his feelings, that's all right. You can afford to be liberal. But you'd be a fool to let him or any other man get his hands on your money. You want to keep the bulk of it in your own possession. It can be done. I'll show you how, when the time comes. Could you promise me to do that?"

"Yes," Caradad agreed soberly. "I won't do anything without talking it over with you first."

"That makes me feel a heap better. Yes, sir. If I ever were to see John Vardell again . . . well, I couldn't look him in the eye if I'd have fallen down on the job he left me. If you'll stick to that one bargain, that lets me out. I'll turn over your cash and keep my mouth shut."

"Goodness! It isn't in currency, is it?"

"Not quite. But it's something the bank will like just as well."

"I wish we could get rid of it then. But I'm afraid the banks will be closed before we could get there."

"There's a bank over in the district, a good one, too, that'll open the door for us after hours. I'd more than sooner get rid of it. You'll have to come along."

"I'll be ready just as soon as I make a phone call, Uncle."

"Okay. Reckon I might as well wash up here, if you don't mind my using one end of your roller towel."

Within an hour, Caradad Vardell was graciously acknowledged as a valued customer of one of the city's larger trust companies. The bank was only to happy to be of service to any friend of Judge Pomphrette.

At the lunch table later, Caradad observed, "Uncle Pompey, I called Terry while you were washing. He's going to have dinner with me tonight at the hotel—or somewhere. So are you, dear."

"I am, am I! Did you tell him so?"

"No. I didn't say you were here. Just told him that I wanted to talk over some matters—that I had heard from you."

The judge pushed away his plate impatiently.

"Don't tell me that I'm supposed to bestow any parental blessings. I'll do nothing of the sort."

"No. But you are going to be very nice to him—for my sake."

Terry Cantine's face was grim when he hung up his telephone receiver. Caradad's message had been brief. She had heard from home and would he please come to dinner at the Rushmore, or call for her there if he preferred to eat elsewhere. That meant that a settlement was assured and that he could dismiss the calamity that had been hanging over his head.

That part was all right. But there was . . . Gerta.

Whatever his other failings, Terry clung to a few ideals of sportsmanship. If his engagement to Caradad were to be treated as bona fide and shared with the public, he owed it to Gerta to see that she had the news from him. There was a slight danger of Gerta going hysterical—but this was going to be different. He rang up Gerta's apartment and found that she was at home. There was no mistake about her pleasure over Terry's proposed call.

He revolved the coming ordeal carefully in his mind during the cross-town trip. It would be easy to hint to Gerta that it all was nothing more than a business arrangement — temporary, if he cared to make it so. But he dismissed that thought almost at once. If he were going to play the game, he'd play it right.

Gerta, unknowingly, helped him by bringing up the subject on the heels of a smiling greeting.

"I wanted so much to see you, Terry! I think I know something that may interest you and . . . Oh! You've had some good news, haven't you, dear? You look so much better!"

"Well . . . yes."

"Didn't I tell you so? Gerta laughed. "I knew something would turn up. It doesn't pay to worry so. And, now, I suppose my news won't interest you so much."

"Go ahead." Terry lighted his pipe, glad of a brief respite.

"Well, it's about Dad. I was so provoked the other night when I found out that she wanted to help you and you wouldn't let her, Terry. I have a suspicion that she's rich!"

"And what makes you think that?"

"Because I happen to know that she has a front suite at the Rushmore! You know what that means!"

"You're right," he returned quietly. "And she has."

"I've suspected it, from several little things and . . ."

Gerta ended her words abruptly. She leaned back in her chair and fixed her large dark eyes on Terry's face.

"So that is the answer. You changed your mind . . . after all."

"Yes."

There was a deep silence, until Gerta spoke again. "I can understand. But I wish, Terry, that you would satisfy my curiosity on one point—is Dad—what you and I would call really rich?"

"Yes." Terry discarded his pipe. He rested his elbows on the arms of the chair, pressed the tips of his manicured fingers together, bent a level gaze upon Gerta from under his lowered brows.

"I think . . ." he began slowly. "I think you and I have always laid our cards on the table . . . with each other. It's best to do it now. You may be hearing something about Dad and me, Gerta. I'd rather be the one to tell you. For a good many reasons."

Gerta's eyes met his without wavering. He had been correct in assuming that her poise would not fail her. "You mean," she suggested in a flat voice, "that you intend to marry her."

He nodded.

"Soon?"

"Oh, no."

"I think I'm rather glad . . . of that. Not that it makes any difference." A faint smile touched her red lips. "That was rather fast work, Terry. Even for you. I don't blame you . . . since the stakes must have been worth while."

* * *

Terry's jaw set firmly. He resented Gerta's faintly amused air, relieved though he was by her attitude. It was a temptation to tell her the truth . . . but it wouldn't do. Not now. Gerta came to his aid again.

"You're trying to think up some perfectly nice way to tell me that you and I—well, we are through, aren't we?"

"I hope not," he told her, almost too eagerly. "We have been friends for a long time. I see no reason why we can't keep on."

"Yes you do, my dear. Or you wouldn't have accented the 'friends' as you did. There never have been any strings, Terry. You tell in with your usual luck. I hope it lasts—even wish some would come my way." She attempted to say it lightly.

"I think it will."

"You don't mean that, Terry. I don't suppose I've ever been accused of priggishness, but I have a pride of sorts—after all."

"And so have I. And I'm not forgetful. Your obligations are mine, partly. That's understood."

"And very sweet of you, Terry. I only wish I were in a position to be very noble and refuse. If I had known sooner . . ."

"That's just it, Gerta. Nobody could have known. I'm not looking for any outs. I reckon the old law of self-preservation still works. When a fellow faces what I . . ."

"Please, Terry! Didn't I say that I wasn't blaming you in the least? I would have done the same thing. There's no use going heroic—unless it pays."

"That's mighty decent of you, Gerta. Most women wouldn't be like that."

"Perhaps you don't know your women," she shrugged. "Do you care to tell me any more about your—future? I realize that I won't be seeing you."

"And I don't see why," he persisted stubbornly. "Dad's rather fond of you, I'm sure."

Gerta's laugh was genuine. "Didn't I say that you didn't know your women? But I'm glad if she thinks she likes me. She is a sweet little thing—even without her money. But let me tell you, my dear, from one woman about another, don't underestimate your fiancee."

"I don't," he rejoined a trifle dryly. "And I've had my lesson. I'm keeping my nose to the grindstone until I get back on my feet. I don't relish the idea of being under obligations . . ."

"Terry, Terry!" Gerta interrupted him with a resigned lift of her arched brows. "Didn't I tell you that heroics don't pay any more? Obligations never will worry you very much—except certain ones. Why don't we forget what has passed? I'm ready to . . . with congratulations."

"You're swell, Gerta. But I knew you'd understand."

"Surely. And don't worry about me. I assure you there will be no scenes. When I have a chance—well, my good wishes for Dad will be as sincere as any I've ever uttered."

"Thank you. And I will be seeing you very soon. I must go now."

"And luck attend you, Benedict." At the outer door, Gerta offered Terry his hat with her left hand, extended her right with a frank gesture. "Good-bye, Terry Cantine."

"Au revoir," he corrected with a smile.

When the muffled clang of the elevator door reached her ears, Gerta made a swift little rush to her bedroom. As she lay on her bed, one bare arm pressed against her dry eyes, one thought was uppermost in her mind. She had made a deliberate attempt to give Caradad Vardell the impression that she cared nothing for Terry—that she was abandoning him to his fate. She had succeeded only too well. Terry had his price and Caradad could pay it.

When Terry reached the Rushmore at the appointed time and called Caradad's room, she asked him to meet her on the mezzanine. When he saw her step out of an elevator, his smile suddenly faded.

International News Service Sports Editor.

Sports writers to hit back at Terry in magazine article, says Walsh who also learns Giant pilot has trouble with own players.

IT PROBABLY won't mean a thing to Bill (Terrible) Terry; no more, in fact, than a swift, upering kick in the corridor. But a national magazine is in the process of negotiating today for a companion piece to good, old Bill's recent memoirs, in which he spoke feelingly of his many friends in the newspaper business.

This one if published, will vie in friendly banter with Mr (What's In It For Me?) Terry's cheerful anecdotes about those delightful sport writers with whom he's come in contact—possibly with unattached chair legs—and, in fact, it would be a sort of sequel, with the same heartfelt tributes and everything. In order to make certain that nothing of a spurious and misleading nature creeps into the content, these expressions would be supplied by those who feel they can speak with authority on Mr (Anything For a Laugh) Terry.

If it ever gets that far, in other words, some of the baseball writers may tell, with the same refreshing candor just what's the matter with him and, having listened to that tale in all its ramifications and length, I have only one suggestion. They ought to number the volumes, like the Encyclopedia Britannica or the bite and works of E Pluribus Sweeney.

TERRY

They've even worked up some fresh material in the last few weeks, including the charge that Our Will doesn't get along any too cordially with the men under him on the Giants. One player is cited as not having spoken to Terry, except strictly in the line of business, for two years. The story is that he was permanently embittered by an alleged attempt by Terry to persuade a mutual friend to intercede in a salary argument at a cost of $2,000 to the player.

Another of his earnest athletes is said to have gone about before the last world series, openly charging that the manager objected to his presence in the line up on personal grounds. Others on the club have not been so frank or meanitious but I was surprised to hear certain names quoted in connection with so called anti-Terry sentiment and in fact, I wondered whether these men had been correctly named. After all, I had heard Terry speak very highly of them.

So, what with one thing and another, including Lou Gehrig's recent outburst against the man and the enduring Joe McCarthy feud, I'm really getting concerned about Mr. (Happy-Go-Lucky) Terry. He apparently doesn't know it, but he seems to be making himself an over-match. He's doing the one thing that has baffled better men than him. He's trying to lick life.

SHILOH ONE OF 10 UNBEATEN CLASS B QUINTETS IN OHIO

Seeks 11th Straight Victory Friday Night When It Meets Plymouth at Home.

ONE of 10 undefeated Class B teams in Ohio, Shiloh high school cagers are making their town basketball-conscious.

Shiloh won the county title six years ago, and then dropped basketball entirely for an unexplainable reason.

Relationships in basketball were renewed by Shiloh four years ago by Supt. E. J. Joseph, and the caliber of ball produced by the school teams has increased each season.

The Drummer Boys reached their peak this season, and it is not likely that their record will be marred before the county tournament games.

Scores 398 Points.

Shiloh has won 10 games this season and scored 398 points against 207 for its opponents. The smallest margin of victory in any of its games has been five points. The majority of the other victories were registered by lop-sided scores.

Coached by Raymond Richard, late of Wittenberg, Shiloh cinched the Twin-Valley league crown last week. It has games remaining with Plymouth, which it opposes Friday, and Greenwich

Shiloh's record follows. Union, 38-18; Adario, 40-13; North Fairfield, 41-18; New Haven, 33-24; Plymouth, 48-27; Greenwich, 48-23, Adario, 56-24, Madison, 24-19; North Fairfield, 40-25; New Haven, 30-16.

In defeating Madison, Shiloh stopped the team which applied the only blot to the record of Ontario, defending county and district champion.

Shiloh high school, incidentally, has an enrollment of only 56 boys.

The membership of the team consists of Jay Moser, Robert Moser, who are cousins, Kenneth Black, son of Roy Black, former superintendent of Madison township schools; Richard Howard, Roy Shafer, Robert Dawson, Roscoe Hamman, Richard Shepherd, Ward Clark and Dean Dawson.

While Shiloh attempts to register its 11th straight victory on its home floor Friday night, Adario performs at Greenwich and New Haven invades North Fairfield.

ONTARIO CAN CINCH TIE FRIDAY.

ONTARIO can cinch at least a tie for the county league championship Friday night, but chief interest in this week's play is held in the Butler-Lexington clash at Butler.

The Wattsmen play at Bellville in the only other tilt on Friday's bill. The Madison-Lucas game has been cancelled because of the smallpox outbreak.

Ontario can cinch the title on Saturday night when it is host to Union

LOSES GAME TO GALION

Shelby Quint Suffers Another N. C. O. Conference Loss By 37-28 Score.

Galion swept to an overwhelming 12 to 4 lead in the opening frame and coasted as they handed the Whippets their seventh straigh league setback.

With Gardner hitting the hoop for 10 points the Galion club went into the second half sporting a 19 to 9 advantage. Shelby came back after the intermission, and after playing the Orangemen on even terms in the third stanza, outscored the ivaders 13 to 8 in the last period but was unable to overcome the early lead Galion led, 29 to 15, going into the last quarter Benham and Bliss topped the losers with seven points each

First Lutheran's fast-stepping quintet took possession of first place in the Church Class A league race last night.

The Lutherans shared the top spot with First M. E. before last night's melees at the Y. M. C. A., but they disposed of the Mayflower aggregation, 36 to 26, as First M. E. was dropping a 19 to 16 decision to the up-and-coming Episcopal combine. The victory gave the Lutherans a game lead in the hectic race

The leaders, after trailing in the opening quarter, 8 to 7, rallied to grab a 16 to 14 advantage at halftime. The Lutherans practically iced the affair in the third frame as they outscored the Mayflower team, 10 to 2, to go into the final chapter sporting a 26 to 16 lead.

Episcopal put on a determined last period rally to dump the erstwhile co-leaders. First M. E led, 11 to 7, at the half, and 14 to 13, as the clubs went in the final stanza. At this point the Episcopals outscored First M. E, 6 to 2, to take the decision.

In the other games, St. Paul's defeated Park Avenue Baptist, 39 to 27, St Johns walloped Central M. E., 43 to 29, and Temple Emanuel, 39 to 19

PITT CHANGES POLICY

Shifts Athletic Control to Faculty, Alters Eligibility.

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — Two changes in athletic policy, one designed to place the University of Pittsburgh's teams under the same "restrictions as those of the "Ivy league" and "Big Ten" go into effect next March 1

One change shifts control from the athletic council of the university to a newly organized, all-faculty committee. The other revises the code of eligibility standards.

FORMER WEIGHT LIFTER TO BATTLE JOE MONTANA

Walter Stratton, "mail-order" weight lifter from Leetonia, will get one of the stiffest tests of his budding career when he faces Joe Montana in the armory Monday night.

Stratton and the vicious little Italian from Camden, N. J., were signed late yesterday to headline the wrestling attraction to be presented by the Mansfield Quality club

Montana rugged and powerful is no toy for anyone the mat game cares to shoot at him. His varied career, a la Dempsey, pictures him as a former cafe bouncer and general roustabout. Always on the go and boring in, he presents a formidable opposition for Stratton

These two contenders will wrestle two out of three falls with a time limit of 90 minutes. Two other matches, one of which will share top billing with the Stratton-Montana embroglio, are yet to be announced.

Yuncker Team Cinches Tie For Second Round Crown With Win Over Canzols.

CITY A LEAGUE

Elks Club	2	1	77	71
Westinghouse Electric	2	1	82	68
Mansfield Pure Oils	1	2	94	116
Ira D. Ling Canzols	0	3	80	100

IT'S all over but the shoutin' unless the Westinghouse plant leather flippers pull the unexpected next week.

Yuncker's Sports cinched at least a share of the second round championship of the City Class A league, before another disappointing crowd at Mansfield high school last night, and a victory over the Westies will give them the crown outright.

Another round will be played, and the possibility of a play-off for the circuit title depends on the Westies success in stopping the Sports next week and the outcome of the third round.

Ring Up 7th Win.

Jimmy Breres' Sports rung up their seventh straight league triumph last night to keep their season record unmarred. The lowly Ira D. Ling's Canzols were the victims, and the score was 34 to 26.

In the other game on the bill, the Elks did not exert themselves as they trimmed the Mack Pure Oils, 31 to 25. The victory enabled the lodgemen to tie the idle Westies for second place, and continued their chances of finishing in a deadlock for the title.

The Canzols fought desperately against the Sports, and they actually pressed the leaders on a couple of occasions, but their inability to hit the bucket with any consistency and pass with even a fair amount of accuracy wrecked whatever winning chances they possessed.

The height advantage that Tom Farrell and Al Stickler gave the Sports was also a factor that the Oils could not overcome.

Too Much Farrell, Stickler.

Farrell and Stickler remained on the sidelines at the start of the game, and the Ling athletes held their own against the Yuncker club.

The Canzols held the lead up to the first 11 minutes, but as soon as Farrell and Stickler were inserted, the Sports gradually pulled away.

After trailing 22 to 11 at the intermission, the Canzols, led by Harold Smith, played their heads off in an attempt to reduce the margin.

They climbed to within three points of the lead midway in the second half despite the presence of Farrell and Stickler, but they were unable to continue at this gait to the finish.

Farrell and Harold Hayfer, with nine and eight points, respectively, led the Yuncker team in scoring, while Smith tallied nine for the losers. Fritz Gottfried, although limited to one bucket, played well.

Substitutes Freely.

After holding their own in the early mintues, the Pure Oils succumbed to the fine team play of the Elks to suffer another defeat. The lodge club substituted frequently as it coasted.

The Elks led 14 to 9 at the half, and the rest of the way. The nearest the Mack team came to knotting the count was late in the game when it reduced the advantage to four points.

Only two minutes of play remained, and the Elks immediately lengthened the margin to a comfortable point.

Fritz Vogel was the only Pure Oil able to score more than once from the field, and he scored 12 points to account for nearly half of his team's total.

The Elks' scoring was fairly evenly divided. Adam Brandt being high with six points.

CRISLER BACK IN BIG 10, ACCEPTS MICHIGAN POST

FRITZ CRISLER

Princeton Coach Takes Job With Assurance He Will Succeed Yost.

By BILL DINSMORE

PRINCETON, N. J.—(AP)—Herbert Orrin (Fritz) Crisler, ending his six-year job of rebuilding Princeton's football fortunes, was back in the Big Ten today as Michigan's head grid coach, with assurance that the athletic directorship would follow in the not-too-distant future.

Released from the Princeton contract which still had two years to run, the tall dark-haired Crisler takes over at Michigan not only as head pilot, but also "as assistant director of athletics, at first."

Eyes Yost's Job.

"Later, I will become director of athletics," he said last night in announcing his Princeton resignation and Michigan acceptance. Although Michigan officials denied they had discussed the directorship with him, it generally was believed that some assurance of the position was made in order to get Crisler to transfer from Tigertown.

Harry Kipke was advised last December his contract as Wolverine coach would not be renewed. Fielding H. Yost is nearing the eligible retirement age as Michigan athletic director.

Today it was generally regarded that Crisler would succeed Yost within a year or two.

Michigan's gain is the Tigers' severe loss. Undergraduates and alumni alike were disappointed over the loss of the 38-year-old mentor who came from Minnesota in 1932 and skyrocketed the Tigers out of their worst football depression back to the heights, with undefeated, untied teams in 1933 and 1935 and a record of 35 won, nine lost and five tied in his six-year regime

It was learned that at last night's Princeton council meeting, Crisler discussed his possible successor. Prominent in the discussion were Ray Morrison of Vanderbilt, Don Peden of Ohio university, Charles Caldwell, a Princeton alumnus now coaching at Williams, and Tad Wieman, Campbell Dickson and Earl T. Martineau, all members of Crisler's present staff. One source said Crisler recommended Peden.

Although Crisler was undecided over his staff of assistants at Michigan, he pointed out that some of his present aids "might like to come with me"

A Chicago Graduate.

The Princeton berth was Crisler's first step out of the Big Ten. He was a three-sport man as an undergraduate at Chicago, graduating in 1922. From 1925 to 1930 he was assistant coach to Amos Alonzo Stagg at his alma mater, and then went to Minnesota as coach and athletic director in 1930 and '31.

His salary at Michigan was not disclosed, but the university president, Dr. Alexander Grant Ruthven, implied that it would be higher than the $7,500 Kipke received.

Yost expressed pleasure at Crisler's acceptance.

Art Shepherd Rolls Games of 204, 232, and 239 to Set Pace.

Art Shepherd of the Lumbermen's Mutuals spanked out a 675 total to hold the individual spotlight in the City Class A league at the Meder alleys last night.

Shepherd assembled games of 204, 232 and 239 to lead the Mutuals to 2889 total and a pair of victories over the Metcalf Pure Oils. The Mutuals shot their biggest score in the last game, a 1010, but lost as the Oils pounded out a 1055 to enable them to reach the 2880 figure.

Art Thomas led the Pure Oils with a 648 total, which included games of 218 and 235, and Farrell Hipp rolled a 609.

Team scoring honors were annexed by the Liederkranz club, which tipped 2915 pins. Al Letiker socked out a 605 to lead the Liederkranz to a pair of wins over Roma Lunchmen, who turned over 2897 uprights. Leathers scored a 601 for the Lunches.

The first place Miller Oldsmobiles accounted for a 2840 total as they scored two wins at the expense of the Meder Recreation. Brig Young paced the Oldsmobiles with a 606.

YANKEE PAYROLL TO TOP $300,000 NEXT SEASON

Col. Ruppert Finds It Costs Heavy Dough to Operate Championship Team.

By GEORGE KIRKSEY, United Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK—Col. Jacob Ruppert now knows what the governor of North Carolina meant when he said to the governor of South Carolina, "if it isn't one of the damn Yankees, it's another."

Joe Dimaggio asked Ruppert for $40,000 for the 1938 baseball season and then along came Lou Gehrig and hoisted his salary demand to $41,400. The Yanks' first baseman arrived at his odd figure by asking for a 15 per cent raise over his 1937 pay of $36,000. Col. Ruppert turned down both requests, leaving Dimaggio and Gehrig heading the Major league holdout parade.

Ruppert's Last Offer.

"Not a penny more for Dimaggio or Gehrig," spewed the multi-millionaire owner of the Yankees. "Those are positively my last offers. . . $25,000 for Dimaggio and $36,000 for Gehrig. I think I'm being very generous and they can take 'em or leave 'em."

Getting the world champion Yankee ball club signed up is not going to be a simple task. Only 12 Yanks have signed and of this group only four are regulars—Pitchers Monte Pearson, Bump Hadley and Johnny Murphy and Outfielder George Selkirk. The others signed are Pitchers Johnny Andrews, Joe Beggs, Steve Sundra, Joe Vance and Kemp Wicker; Catcher Arndt Jorgens; Infielder Babe Dahlgren, and Outfielder Jake Powell.

The Yanks' payroll topped $300,000 last year and is certain to go even higher this season. Including the salaries of Manager Joe McCarthy and three coaches. The Yanks' payroll may go beyond $333,000, highest in baseball history.

It'll Cost $200,000.

It will cost Col. Ruppert something like $200,000 to put a regular team plus four pitchers on the field. The following figures are believed to be accurate:

	Bid	Asked
Dickey	$17,000	$18,500
Gehrig	36,000	41,400
Gordon	5,000	6,000
Rolfe	11,000	12,500
Crosetti	12,500	13,000
Henrich	7,000	8,500
DiMaggio	25,000	40,000
x Selkirk	.....	12,500
Ruffing	16,500	18,000
Gomez	15,000	20,000
x Pearson	.....	11,000
x Hadley	.....	10,500

x Already signed.

These 12 players will cost Col. Ruppert close to $200,000. Then he has to pay 11 other players, Manager McCarthy and coaches. McCarthy's salary is $35,000 and Art Fletcher draws about $10,000, as the highest paid coach in baseball.

THE FIRST HOLDOUT

JOE CORBETT

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—Baseball, as well as boxing, learned strategy from the Corbetts. Boxers absorbed pointers from Jim Corbett, heavyweight champion in the nifty nineties. And Brother Joe was the first diamond star to use the "holdout" technique as a salary-raising leverage. The baseball moderns, with their two- and three-month strikes, are just fiddling around. Joe held out for five years. Top pay for John McGraw and others in 1898 was $2,400. Joe, an ace pitcher for the Baltimore Orioles, demanded $3,000. The Orioles replied succinctly: "You're crazy." So Joe borrowed an unwritten leaf from twentieth century labor methods and went on a "sit-down." He never rejoined the Orioles, but in 1903 played minor-league ball. His advice to salary dissenters: "If you think you're right, stick to it. But don't forget it's pretty hard to beat those hours."

Faces Battle To Keep Lead

Bucyrus Meets Marion In Headliner Friday.

The Redmen of Bucyrus high will be battling Friday night to cling onto their slim lead in the hectic North Central Ohio basketball conference race when they invade Marion for an important tussle with the Harding Presidents.

A Bucyrus triumph would give the club a game and a half lead in the race which comes to a close in three weeks. Defeated only by Mt. Vernon, which also dumped the Presidents, Bucyrus will enter the tilt a slight favorite over Marion, one of the pre-season choices to annex the crown.

While the clubs are fighting for first place, the dangerous Yellow Jackets, led by Eddie Lore, league leading individual scorer, travel to Shelby for a melee with the lowly Whippets, who have yet to chalk up a league victory. Friday's other game takes Galion to Ashland.

Marion can drop a wrench into the standings by knocking off Bucyrus. Should Marion and Mt. Vernon register victories, the Presidents would take over first place, with the Jackets and Bucyrus tied for second, a half-game behind.

Ashland and Galion will be staging a private battle for possession of fourth place. At present the Orangemen hold the position by a half-game margin, and they must win Friday to retain the post.

A Pitcher's Battle; Renaissance Loses, 4-2.

AKRON—(INS)—One of the lowest basketball scores on record was marked up here today because the Brooklyn, N. Y. Renaissance five walked off the Goodyear floor after five minutes of play. The score at the time was Goodyear 4, Renaissance 2.

The visitors left the game when "Wee Willie" Smith was chased by Referee Titus Lobach following a scrap with Charlie Shipp, Goodyear star. Goodyear reserves and supporters swarmed on to the floor, but were restrained by plant police. When Lobach refused to let Smith play, the Rens left the game.

O'CONNOR'S NECK NICKED

Suffers Injury As He Flies Out of Ring In Bout With Dusek.

Dan O'Connor, the well-known Irish guni-and-groaner, who appeared at the Armory this week, today nursed a very sore neck, suffered when he put himself out of commission in a wrestling bout with Ernie Dusek on the Central armory mat here last night.

Dan landed on his neck when he missed a flying scissors aimed at brother Ernie. He was carried from the ring, leaving Ernie triumphant, and the neck was repaired in the dressing room. In a mud-bath semi-final Cleveland's Fred Bozic mired Whitey Govro in eight minutes, 25 seconds.

BIRDS, HENS OPEN HOME

COLUMBUS—(AP)—The Columbus Red Birds and Toledo's Mud Hens, who finished one-two in the American Association pennant race last fall for an All-Ohio finale, will open the 1938 baseball season on their home grounds April 16. Columbus will entertain Kansas City and Toledo will play host to Milwaukee.

BARONS ADD TO LEAD

Keep Home Record Unmarred By Trimming Pittsburgh, 2 to 1.

CLEVELAND — (INS) — Bill Cook's Cleveland Barons today led the International American Hockey league by a full six points as the result of their 2 to 1 victory over the second-place Pittsburgh Hornets in the Arena here last night.

The Barons' victory stretched their home winning streak to 13, and kept clean their record of no league losses on the home ice this season. A crowd of 10,677 saw the game.

Nick May Find It Tough To Score 400 Points.

WOOSTER — Held to 31 points in two games last week, Nick Frascella's chances of scoring 400 points this season slumped.

The Wooster forward, whose dizzy scoring pace has netted 98 field goals and 45 free throws for 241 points in ten games, can still get over the coveted 400 mark. The Scots have eight games left to play and in four of them he can expect to find it difficult to maintain his present scoring record.

FINDS ROADS IN 'WORST SHAPE'

Officials Say County Lacking Fund For Repair Program; Freak Weather Blamed.

county roads need rebuilding, while most of the secondary earth and gravel roads are unfit for use by any heavy vehicle.

Much of the damage to the more heavily-traveled roads was blamed on trucks and school buses which, Mitchell said, are always destructive to roads in winter.

At the request of County Engineer Sword, commissioners last week placed a load limit of six tons on vehicles with pneumatic tires on country roads and four and a half tons for solid-tired trucks and wagons.

The break-down of earth, gravel and stone roads is general throughout the state and is the result of rapid changes in temperature and the great amount of moisture in the earth under the roads.

Freezing and thawing loosens the surface of the roads and the water under the top coating makes the base unstable and easily furrowed by wheels, he explained.

The damage was said to be greatest in townships of the county where there are more gravel roads.

Township trustees in many sections are faced with the same problem as the county, with township-maintained routes in bad condition and maintenance funds low.

HUNT CLUES IN GANG KILLING

Chicago Police to Question Capone's Ex-Henchmen In Slot King's Murder.

night, apparently fearful the killers would return to finish their job. They were driven out by Lieut. Thomas Kelly and his aides. A heavy police guard was stationed at the hospital.

Police viewed the slot machine, gambling and illicit alcohol rackets as a possible motive for the assassination.

"I believe Costello was killed in a fight with hoodlums from Will county (adjoining Cook county) for moving in on their slot machine territories," Kelly said.

The three men drove up to the bakery shortly after noon. They stepped through the door and smilingly greeted Nick Costello, 32, Sam's brother.

"Where's Sam?" they demanded. Nick summoned his brother from a rear room.

One of the men put out his hand as Costello approached.

"Hi'ya Sam," he said. But the killer's hand held an automatic pistol. He opened fire and his companions joined him.

Costello fell with nine bullet wounds. His three associates emerged from a back room, joined Nick, and returned the fire as the men fled. Between 40 and 45 shots were fired, all from .45 caliber automatics.

Nick was shot in the groin and thigh. Nello Bagagli, 37, was wounded in the right ankle, and Joe Di Giovanni, 40, was wounded in the right leg. Luigi Onofrio, 27, was unmjured. Two of the attackers were believed to have been wounded.

CAPONE NOT VIOLENT

SAN FRANCISCO—(UP)—Alcatraz island's warden, James A. Johnston, announced today that Scarface Al Capone was lying placidly on a prison hospital cot, that his mental breakdown had been without violence and that he was getting no special treatment.

It was the warden's first official statement about his most notorious prisoner, and he was piqued by all the reports and inquiries that have been made about the former Chicago gang leader since it was reported two days ago that he had lost his mind while serving the last year of his 11-year-sentence on federal income tax charges.

"I don't propose to issue hourly bulletins on Capone's temperature and pulse," Johnston said. "Capone has no special nurse. He is being given the usual care and there is no intention at this time to remove him to any other institution. We have just as good a hospital here as the U. S. Medical Center at Springfield, Mo."

A San Francisco newspaper had reported earlier that Capone was placed in a straightjacket and bound to a cot after a violent outbreak. The newspaper said Capone sprang from bed and started to wreck his room, and that it required six guards to subdue him. This report was denied by officials of the federal prisons bureau in Washington.

Disappearance of Ex-German Crown Prince Stirs Berlin

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—The sudden disappearance of former Crown Prince Friedrich Wilhelm from Germany while the army crisis was at its height aroused keen speculation here today.

The prince left on Saturday for Cortina, Italy, while Reichsfuehrer Hitler was busily engaged in weeding out the army high command amidst rumors of a projected monarchist coup.

His household, however, branded as a "base canard" a report in the Paris newspaper Le Jour that Friederich Wilhelm had "fled" from Germany.

Frederich Wilhelm crossed the Austrian frontier en route to Italy so quietly and unostentatiously that his absence was not noted until today.

According to latest word, he still is at Cortina and is expected to remain longer than originally planned in view of the growing impression that monarchist sympathy in the higher ranks of the officers' corps played a large part in the shake-up.

The major-domo of the prince's household at Potsdam insisted the trip itself was in no shape or manner influenced by Hitler's latest and bloodless purge.

His reservations for Cortina were made several weeks ago, before the army crisis arose, it was said.

It was regarded as significant, however, that the prince's wife, the former Crown Princess Cecilie, did not join him on the journey. Only a personal aid and his valet accompanied him.

DREAD DISEASE VICTIMS SUE

12 Women Seek Compensation For Radium Poisoning.

OTTAWA, Ill.—(INS)—Asserting they faced the tortures of a slow death from a disease contracted while they worked at the radium dial company, 12 women today asked compensation before the Illinois industrial commission here under the occupational disease law.

The 12 based their hopes on the plea of Mrs. Catherine Donohue, one of their number, acting as a test case before the board.

Mrs. Donohue, who charges she fell a victim to the dread alpha ray while working in the company's plant from 1922 to 1931, was to take the stand in Ottawa courthouse before George C. Marvell, sitting as trial judge.

California Counts 7 Dead, Huge Damage By Hurricane

The Great Game of Politics

—By FRANK R. KENT

The Next Step Follows.

IN MOST of life's activities one step inevitably leads to the next. It is not easy to start in one direction and not keep going. Certainly this has been true as to the policies of the Roosevelt administration; it is equally true as to its politics.

Take, for example, the present involvement of the president in the primary election contests facing various New Deal Democratic senators in a number of states who are up for renomination and re-election this year. Normally, the White House carefully stays out of state political contests. And, so far as the primaries are concerned, so does the national committee. It has never been considered good political judgment for the president to take sides in primary contests and the national committee is regarded as barred from indicating a preference between party aspirants.

YET, IN THE primary fight which threatens Senator Alben Barkley, of Kentucky, Mr. Roosevelt has been compelled to line up behind him. And it is natural to assume that the Farley organization, no matter what the personal judgment of its head as to the wisdom of the course, will do likewise. The Barkley situation is such that there simply was nothing else for the president to do. Senator Barkley is his leader, chosen through his influence. With his leader in clear political peril, no matter how great his desire to keep out, the president couldn't. If he did and Senator Barkley were beaten, he would lose his leader and suffer greatly in prestige. On the other hand, if Senator Barkley should win without presidential aid, not only would he feel free of any obligations to Mr. Roosevelt, but most humanly resentful over the failure of the president to respond when he needed him.

* * *

THEREFORE, when Senator Barkley's case was presented, the White House had to "come through." But, having "come through" for Senator Barkley it could not stop. When the claims of Senator Ryan Duffy in Wisconsin and Senator Claude Pepper in Florida were laid down, the president had to "keep going." Senator Duffy and Senator Pepper had each been as unswervingly loyal as Senator Barkley. Each is in serious trouble in his state. Each needs and wants and feels entitled to the presidential blessing. There wasn't any way for the president to escape without appearing politically selfish and ungrateful, willing to "go to bat" only for his leader, because his loss would be personally more damaging.

* * *

ACCORDINGLY, the president now has cordially indorsed Senator Duffy in Wisconsin, though in that state his real political alliance is with the La Follettes. And in Florida he has indorsed Senator Pepper by proxy, his son, James, giving out, from Palm Beach, a eulogistic statement in which he expressed the conviction that the country could not afford to lose Senator Pepper's immensely valuable services—or words to that general effect. Of course, James was sharply rebuked for this "meddling" in state politics by James Mark Wilcox, who is the leading candidate against the senator. That, however, did not bother James at all nor prevent the White House preference from being plain.

* * *

THE EXPECTATION now is that the next step will be in Ohio, where Senator Robert Bulkley, another of the senators who "stood by" the president in his effort to pack the court, is in trouble. Former Gov. George White has declared against him and there is a strong Democratic swing against Bulkley. If the latter wants the Roosevelt indorsement he is bound to get it. He is as much entitled to it as any of them and may need it as much. In his case, it would not be surprising if the White House support came in the form of co-operation in the Bulkley plan for meeting the depression, which is of a character designed to make a particular appeal to Mr. Roosevelt.

THE SENATOR calls it a plan for building a "transcontinental system of self-liquidating highways." A federal highways commission is to be created and eight billion of two and a half per cent bonds issued. These are to be sold to the public; the government will be guaranteed against loss, the investors assured a fair return, three highways across the country east and west and six north and south built—20,000 miles in all—at a cost of $400,000 a mile. It is a breath-taking proposition but the report is that it has been well received at the White House.

* * *

AND THERE WILL BE other steps. Before the summer is over there is every indication that Mr. Roosevelt will be involved in the primaries in at least four states—and probably more—not because he wants to, but because there is no way for him to avoid it.

Senate Takes Up Crop Control Bill Today

FILIBUSTER TO WAIT AS UPPER HOUSE BALLOTS

Leaders See House-Approved Measure Sanctioned In Senate By Nightfall.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON—Senate leaders agreed to sidetrack the anti-lynching filibuster temporarily today in an effort to rush the house-approved farm bill to the White House.

Senators Smith (D-SC) and Pope (D-Idaho) predicted the compromise crop control legislation, drafted by a senate-house committee, would be approved by nightfall.

"The farmers are entitled to know right away," Smith said, "what the administration's farm plans for this year are."

Some senators, however, forecast a prolonged debate because opponents wanted to send back the measure for further committee revision.

The program is intended to regulate abnormal supplies of wheat, corn, cotton, tobacco and rice, and to prevent wide fluctuation in farmer income and consumer prices.

Market Controls.

Besides continuing the soil conservation program, it authorizes Secretary Wallace to impose marketing controls, which farmers must approve or reject, when there are indications of huge crop surpluses.

Chairman Jones (D-Tex) of the house agricultural committee, obviously pleased by the 263 to 135 approval of the legislation in the house yesterday, expressed the hope all farmers would co-operate with the agriculture department.

In a dramatic argument closing the house debate, Jones appealed to members to approve the bill in order to give farmers an "offset" or "equalization" for tariff benefits of industry.

Pacing the aisles and gesturing rapidly, he denounced Republican arguments that the legislation was complicated and that the leadership was asking its adoption before members had a chance to read it thoroughly.

The house roll call showed that 13 Republicans, one Progressive and five Farmer-Laborites joined with 224 Democrats to pass the bill. Fifty-four Democrats, 74 Republicans and seven Progressives voted "No."

William A. Ashbrook, congressman from Richland county and the 17th district, was among those who voted against the bill.

BRANDS WRIGHT 'MORAL LEPER'

State, Defense Begin Closing Arguments; Case to Reach Jurors Today.

(By Associated Press)

LOS ANGELES—Paul A. Wright, confessed slayer of his wife and his friend, John Kimmel, heard himself branded by the prosecution as a "moral leper," and by his counsel, Jerry Giesler, as a "puppet of the fates" as final arguments brought his trial near its close today.

J. Miller Leavy, assistant prosecutor, castigated the former airport president for "dragging through muck and mire" the character of his victims. He ridiculed what he called the "fantastic defense of unconsciousness."

Giesler pictured Wright as head of $2,000,000 Union Air terminal on Nov. 9, when Mrs. Wright and Kimmel were slain—a man with "everything to lose and nothing to gain," and no motive whatever for the shootings before, Geisler said, the scene Wright found in his living room shocked him into temporary unconsciousness.

Giesler said that during his final summation today he would take the bullet-scarred piano bench on which Wright claims he found Mrs. Wright and Kimmel in an unnatural embrace, and demonstrate how the evidence showed the two were sitting when Wright came upon them.

The case was expected to reach the jury late today or early tomorrow.

AUDIENCE OF 1,400 HOWLS AND APPLAUDS ANTICS OF SYCAMORES

By JANE WILLIAMS

Mansfield is still laughing today, as choice bits are being retold, at the delerious antics of the mad Sycamores, a family of zanies who have kept American theatergoers howling for a year in "You Can't Take It With You."

About 1,400 saw the play last night at the Madison theater, where it was presented by Sam Harris, theatrical producer who has been catering to American whims for lo, these many years. It was written, as every one knows by this time, by those two Mad Hatters of the theater, Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman.

"You Can't Take It With You" is a sort of combined "My Man Godfrey," "A Day At The Races" and visitors' day at the state asylum. It is a story in which every one, except two young people are just plain screw-balls The Messrs Hart and Kaufman certainly never intended their play to be taken for straight comedy; rather, it is an hilarious satire on individuals who live by impulse, and when you get a group of them together in one family, the collective result is easily worth $2.75 top prices.

The story is as simple a formula as this: boy meets girl, boy's family meets girl's family, but in spite of this boy wins girl The play lies in the meeting of the two families.

The boy's family is wealthy, socially prominent, and distinctly "stuffed shirt" The girl's family is —well, there's Penny, the mother of two grown daughters, who used to be artist but who turned to writing plays eight years before when some one left a typewriter at the house by mistake; there's Essie, daughter of the Sycamores, who has been taking ballet lessons for eight years and who makes candy—"love dreams"—for her husband to sell; and her husband is Ed, a harmless little lunatic who prints slips and puts them in the boxes of candy just because he likes to print; and Paul Sycamore, Penny's husband and father of the girls, who makes fireworks in the cellar, and Mr. DePinna, the ice man who delivered a hunk of ice eight years before and just stayed.

Grandpa Vanderhof, with whom the Sycamores live, is a lovable and philosophical soul—but nutty nevertheless. He quit work 35 years before because he just got tired of doing things he didn't want to do, and now he spends his time going to commencement exercises and practicing darts in the family living-dining room. He doesn't pay income taxes because he doesn't believe in 'em, and finally convinces the government that he doesn't owe any because he had died eight years ago.

Then there is Rheba, the colored maid and Donald, her boy friend; and the Russian dancing teacher and the Grand Duchess Olga who is a waitress at Child's; and the two pet snakes that have a cage on top the buffet, and become restless when the fireworks in the basement goes haywire.

Does all that make sense? It does not. But take it wrapped up in the inimitable wise cracks of Hart and Kaufman and it makes uproarious comedy. The very nice Kirby boy and the perfectly sane Sycamore girl, who hang onto their romance AND their familes, have the sympathies of the audience throughout Just as you feel sure that boy has lost girl, Grandpa Vanderhof comes through with some whimsical philosophy, a touching little prayer of gratitude to God whom he addresses as "Sir," and the curtain comes down on a united front between the two families and the girl in the boy's arms.

The cast was a good one, with George Henry Trader as Mr. Vanderhof, easily the star. That Mansfield accepted the play as wholeheartedly as the rest of the country was evident in the continuous howls and enthusiastic applause.

Up and Down THE STREET

For the benefit of all those Mansfield citizens who are seeing "first robins" this week—the first robin story was published five weeks ago. As a matter of fact, those "first robins" have been here all winter, as bird lovers who have been feeding them can testify. And while the appearance of a winter robin is no longer a harbinger of an early spring, there's always a thrill in seeing them. A flock of eight or ten seen in South Boulevards this week is probably a mid-winter convention of the red-breasts, meeting to talk over their experiences in the "frozen North."

Miss Ruth Leighley, reference librarian at the Mansfield Public Library, has one of those jobs in which there's never a dull moment. She is asked daily to find literature on such questions as: "What are the state of Ohio's requirements for an embalming license?" . . . "What was the family name of Queen Victoria?" . . . And to find pictures of such widely divergent subjects as a kidney shaped sofa and the original Boy Scout uniform . . . While the next customer may ask for a book on ostrich raising or how to stop a leak until the plumber comes . . . Or ask her to look up the identification of the hallmark on some antique piece of silver.

It's a picture of confusion these days in the basement of the courthouse with taxpayers hunting for a place to pay their Mansfield conservancy tax. So Randall Barrett, deputy county engineer, who said he was tired of telling people that taxes aren't paid at the engineer's office, made a sign of his own and posted it in the lobby, pointing to the deputy treasurer's office in the county extension agent's quarters. The conservancy tax, collected only in Mansfield and Madison township, is payable to Russell Erdenberger, deputy treasurer, with his office directly under the county treasurer's office.

* * *

It's not unusual for some one to suffer a minor injury in the various activities at the Y. M. C. A. but yesterday's "casualty list" really kept Donald Cram, physical director, busy. The casualties included three sprained ankles, one cut tongue, and a broken set of false teeth.

STORM SWAYS GOLDEN GATE SPAN 13 FEET

Gale Blows $500,000 Loss to Sacramento; Houses, Trees Demolished by Wind.

(By International News Service)

SAN FRANCISCO—Seven persons were dead today and millions of dollars in property damage throughout California exacted by the 76-mile-an-hour hurricane which cut a wide path through the center of the state yesterday.

So great was the wind that the new $35,000,000 Golden Gate bridge swayed approximately 13 feet from its center.

However, the bridge is built to include a 20-foot sway without it being noticeable or without causing damage to the huge span.

$500,000 Loss.

Sacramento, the capital, was the most severely hit, a survey showing at least $500,000 loss. In Pajaro valley, 60 miles south of San Francisco, the hurricane did another $500,000 damage.

Other regions of the state reported heavy damage, numbers injured and several deaths.

The dead victims were:

William Brome, 78, struck by a falling tree at Sacramento.

Coast Guardsman Fritz Flukiger drowned when a boat swamped 300 yards off the Golden Gate

Erik Bellquist, San Joaquin valley rancher, crushed under a collapsed chicken house.

Mrs. Margaret Tingle, 49, Modesto housewife, crushed when the family garage collapsed.

George C Pearl, 15, Calistoga high school student, blown from a roof while repairing a radio aerial.

Mrs. Mary Ellis, 51, trapped in collapsed chicken house near Bakersfield.

A F Cunningham, 45, Marysville, crushed when a giant eucalyptus tree fell through his cabin in which he lay ill in bed.

Hollywood Speaks—

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—Loretta Young's little sister, 13-year-old Georgianna Belzer, is making her first picture as one of the school girls in Deanna Durbin's "Mad About Music."

Loretta doesn't approve. "Georgianna's so young," she says, "to be starting. . . ." And she frowns, perched on a high stool on the set of "Four Men and a Prayer."

"But you were 12 when you began," we remind her.

"Yes" says Loretta, "and I don't regret it—for me. But that was in silent pictures. All you needed was a passable face. Why, for a long time my picture work was more play than play and more fun than play. Herbert Brenon was my first director to make me realize it was work—he put me in for 26 weeks of torture on 'Lass o' Laughter.' But it's all different now. It's all hard work — and for Georgianna just a child. . . . Oh, I wish she weren't. . . ."

There's a difference, however, in their respective beginnings Loretta, at 12, took a bus to the studios or caught rides with friends Georgianna sets forth in town or with chauffeur, and arrives in state!

"I wish I could be washed up" said El Brendel pensively at lunch, "the way some of these stars are. Hollywood says they're finished, so they go out and collect all kinds of money—washed up, heh?"

Brendel is only recently out of the "washed up" division. And the way it happened is amusing. El used to be a mainstay of Fox's earlier talkies, his Swedish dialect comedy an audience panic. But gradually he dropped out. New times, new faces new dialects. Fox became 20th Century-Fox and Darryl Zanuck replaced Winfield Sheehan as big boss El Brendel appeared here and there in bits and small parts, did a few shorts, but for practical purposes he was "washed."

One of his recent bits was in Sonja Heine's "Happy Landing." Zanuck happened to be at the preview. When El flashed on, the audience roared and applauded "Why, that fellow's funny," said Zanuck, "sign him up."

So, doing the same character that was famous six or seven years ago, El Brendel was "discovered" all over again. He'll be in the next Shirley Temple picture!

U. S. Envoy Talks With U. S. Woman Held By Soviets.

MOSCOW — (AP) — Mrs. Ruth Marie Rubens of New York, pale from two months' imprisonment, talked for an hour and 15 minutes today with Loy W. Henderson, United States charge d'affaires, but apparently was able to impart little of her account of her arrest on suspicion of espionage.

Soviet judicial authorities were present to censor the interview.

Mrs. Rubens was permitted to answer only questions approved by an examining judge of the Soviet military tribunal wearing the insignia of a brigade commander.

Henderson declined to tell what took place during his visit to the grim old Butirka prison outside Moscow until he had made his report.

It was understood Mrs Rubens had to keep silent concerning details of her arrest.

JACKSON DENIES PLAN TO CHANGE LEGAL SYSTEM

Tells Senate Sub-Committee He Never Planned Shift In 'Constitutional Law.'

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Robert H. Jackson, nominee for solicitor general, denied before a senate judiciary sub-committee today that he entered government service in an effort to "change our constitutional law."

Sen. Warren R. Austin, R., Vt., pounded at Jackson's theories of government and his attitude toward specific policies of the internal revenue department in regard to forcing taxpayers to assume the burden of proof on returns. The subcommittee is investigating Jackson's qualifications for the office of solicitor general.

"You are asking about something over which I had no control," Jackson replied.

"When I was in the internal revenue department I carried out the law which you gentlemen wrote and which provides that the taxpayer shall assume the burden of profo before the board of tax appeals."

Jackson denied the department ever had a policy of making an arbitrary assessment against a taxpayer in order to force him to make a settlement

Asked About Theories.

"When you came here did you hold views as to the government and its relation to the economic life of the country that were similar to your views now?" Austin asked.

"I think some of my views have been changed some but not fundamentally," Jackson said

"But you htink that big business men have not learned anything since 1929?" Austin asked

"I think some of them have learned vrey little," Jackson replied.

Austin charged that "many tax cases" had come to his attention where the treasury had appeared to hve claimed an arbitrary tax to force a settlement.

"Hasn't it been true that sometimes the taxpayer has been soaked first and then the burden put on him to prove his returns," Austin asked.

"There may have beeu some cases in which errors were made in assessments," Jackson said, "but there was never any policy of setting large arbitrary sums in order to force th etaxpayer to settle."

Austin turned to Jackson's testimony before the judiciary committee on President Roosevelt's supreme court reorganization bill. Jackson said that testimony "still stands."

"Did you mean in your testimony that you have a program for remodelling our constitutional law?" Austin asked

"No. I had no program I was trying to put over," Jackson said "I meant just what I said That the legislative program was in danger of being lost in a maze of metaphors because of the supreme court."

Jackson said that the conflict with the court "has since been dissolved" and that the "late decisions of the supreme court" had outdated his remarks that the supreme court was trying to assume a veto power over the congress.

DON'T TRIFLE WITH CATARRH

Many Cases of Consumption Start With Catarrh—Act Promptly When the First Symptoms Appear

Our graves ds are filled with the bodies of people who thought catarrh would "get well of itself." Catarrh at first seems nothing more than a bad cold in the head But soon the poison get into the system and through the blood stream reaches different parts of the body At the same time the repulsive catarrhal droppings are swallowed into the stomach Appetite for food is lost and the little that a person forces himself to eat is not digested The system is weakened and poisoned.

The remedy which can be of help is one like Worlds Tonic which helps purify and cleanse the system This good medicine quickly relieves the catarrhal sores and cleanses the body of the catarrhal poison Now comes to America, particularly for persons find World's Tonic a veritable G dsend. It is different from ordinary American remedies because it is a compound of powerful medicines brought from many parts of the world That is why it will work on people of different races when other remedies fail

Mr E J Accampo of 631 14th St., Massillon, Ohio says "I grew so thin and weak from catarrh that I could no longer work I drank lots of water which helped very little, my tongue was coated, and I had a very bad breath The food I tried to eat had no taste I would swell up after eating and had to take different kinds of physics all the time I watched the little money we had saved get smaller and smaller every week My good wife got work from the neighbors but that did not bring in enough to pay for our food I did not know what would become of me, my wife and our five children Finally I tried World's Tonic which I read about in the paper. From the first spoonful I knew that I was better. It was amazing. Within four weeks I had my old job back again and a nice pay check every week. I am absolutely well and strong and I owe it all to World's Tonic."

World's Tonic is on sale at Central Drug Store and all other modern drug stores. (A-7)

FACING CHARGE

New Yorker Blamed in 50 Fires in Brooklyn.

NEW YORK — (INS) — Suspicion of having set 50 Brooklyn fires in the past two years, one of which took three lives, attached today to John Wade, 26, who fire officials say developed a firebug mania from the death of his mother, sister, and brother in a blaze in 1935.

A fire at the home of Wade's married sister a week ago after he had quarreled with his brother-in-law attracted suspicion to Wade.

GIRDLER SEES OPTIMISM

DEL MONTE, Calif. — (AP) — T. M. Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel corporation and president of the American Iron and Steel institute, said today there were signs of further gains in industry.

"But many uncertainties still exist," he warned in an address for delivery before the 14th annual conference of Iron, Steel and Allied industries of the California state chamber of commerce.

"We have been hearing a great deal recently about co-operation between government and industry, and the idea won universal approval," he continued.

"One of the reasons for our present difficulties has been the growing attitude on the part of the government that business is exclusively the vehicle of a few wealthy people, and is something separate and distinct from the public.

"That is a basic fallacy in economic thinking. The fact is that practically the entire public of the United States is engaged in business, directly or indirectly, except those in government employ."

CONGRESS GETS RELIEF REQUEST

Roosevelt's Message Asks $250,000,000, Says Fund Now Insufficient.

may stiffen opposition to present methods of aiding the unemployed, some congressional leaders said today.

Although they expressed little doubt congress would grant the additional money, they said the request would be recalled during later debates on relief.

The crux of the argument is the Woodrum amendment, which requires the works progress administration to spread its present $1,500,000,000 throughout the present fiscal year, ending June 30.

Rep. Taber (R.-N. Y.), ranking Republican on the house appropriations committee, said a request for more money now would indicate "that the law to spread the relief money over the year hasn't been observed."

Rep. Cochran (D.-Mo.) has proposed repeal of this limitation, on the ground that the unemployment situation has changed since it was voted last spring.

If the special relief fund is voted, Senator Austin (R.-Vt.) said, the administration should at least encourage anexpression of policy indicating that relief will be administered by local agencies in the future."

Critics of the relief program have advocated in the past that control of aid to the needy be returned to the states; that cities be charged a fixed per cent of the cost of WPA projects, and that "waste" and "inefficiency" be eliminated from the federal relief set-up.

SUPREME COURT BACKS ZELLNER IN STAMP CASE

Rules Sale of Re-possessed Car by Loan Company Isn't 'Casual.'

Ruling on a case against Fred R. Zellner, Richland county clerk of courts, the Ohio supreme court today decided that a loan company selling repossessed automobiles is not a "casual dealer" and therefore must collect sales tax on cars.

The suit was filed last summer by the City Loan and Savings company of Wapakoneta after Zellner refused to file a bill of sale on a used car sold by the Mansfield branch office of the company.

Sought Writ.

The finance company sought a writ of mandamus to compel Zellner to accept the bill of sale without the sales tax stamps affixed. The purchaser of the car had been granted a certificate of exemption from the tax by the loan firm on the ground that it was a "casual sale."

Zellner contended that the state law required him to file bills of sale only when the sales tax stamps were affixed and that the finance company could not be classed as a "casual dealer," since it frequently repossessed and sold automobiles.

The automobile involved in the suit had been sold to John H. Loddy of near Mansfield after it was repossessed from an owner who was unable to meet the terms of a loan.

Zellner was represented before the supreme court by County Prosecutor Glenn W. Marriott and counsel from Atty. Gen. Herbert S. Duffy's office. The case, which was taken directly to the supreme court by the loan firm, was heard Nov. 23 in Columbus.

New Coughlin?

—Central Press Photo.

A new "Father Coughlin" has appeared on the political horizon in the person of the Rev. Gerald B. Winrod, fundamentalist preacher of Wichita, Kas., who may win the Republican senatorial nomination. If so, he would oppose Democratic Senator George A. McGill, New Dealer, up for re-election. Rev. Winrod, accused by liberals as being a pro-Fascist, which he denies, publishes the Defender magazine and other publications. His literature, as well as his speeches, usually presents a religious argument in connection with his political doctrines.

SPEAKS TO CLUB

Ohio Bell Official Addresses Schoolmen on Telephones.

"Science and the Telephone" was the subject discussed by Warren H. Chase, Cleveland, district commercial manager for the Ohio Bell Telephone company, at a meeting of the Mansfield Schoolmsaters' club last night in the Senior high school cafeteria.

Chose illustrated his address by using an ordinary microphone, showing how words sent in transit over the Atlantic ocean would sound during in a trans-oceanic radio-telephone call.

He explained that words sent to another country were distorted by a "speech scrambler" which is used to insure privacy during overseas radio-telephone calls.

Conversations are transmitted by radio in this inverted form across the seas and then reverted to normal speech at the receiving end by an "unscrambler," he said.

C. J. Winkler, of Lakewood, who accompanied Chase, demonstrated an "artificial larynx."

About 65 of the schoolmasters attended the meeting.

BOY TELLS OF BEING SLUGGED BY 'LARGE MAN'

Detectives Hunt Assailant Who Lured Youth Into Lot, Knocked Him Down.

A 12year-old boy found wandering around in a dazed condition on Willis avenue yesterday while on the way to school told police of having been struck down by a large man with a coarse voice who called him into a back lot, and then hit him on the head.

Detectives today were searching for the boy's assailant, after James Baxter, 107 South Willis avenue, found the youth wandering around in a dazed condition in front of his home and called police.

Aaron Ritchey, son of Mrs. John Ritchey, 71 South Adams street, told police that he was on his way to school when a man in the back yard at 105 Willis avenue, called to him. When he approached, he said the stranger struck him on the head and knocked him unconscious.

Describes Assailant.

He told police the man was large and used good English, but had a coarse voice. He was wearing a dark striped suit coat and was about 30 years old, he said.

Mrs. Ritchey told police that her son had left the house at 12:15 p. m. and was on his way to Hedges school. Police reported that Baxter had called them at 1:10 p. m. which led them to believe that the boy had lain unconscious in the yard for at least half an hour.

Neighbors were questioned but no one had seen the stranger in the vicinity, police said.

It's So Easy! Makes a Big Saving. No Cooking.

To get the quickest relief from coughs due to colds, mix your own remedy at home. Once tried, you'll never use any other kind of cough medicine, and it's so simple and easy.

First, make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. A child could do it. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. Thus you make a full pint of really better medicine than you could buy ready-made for four times the money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

And for quick, blessed relief, it has no equal. You can feel it penetrating the air passages in a way that means business. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the inflamed membranes, and eases the soreness. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

FOES TO RENEW ATTACK ON HUGE U. S. NAVY BILL

Congress Bloc Reiterating Threats of 'Finish Fight,' Gains More Support.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON —(U P)— Rep. Ralph O. Brewster, R., Me. demanded today that Arthur Krock, New York Times correspondent, be summoned before the house naval affairs committee to tell the source of his information that the United States has a tacit naval understanding with Great Britain.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—Witnesses for the National Council for the Prevention of War will continue their attack upon President Roosevelt's proposed $800,000,000 naval program before the house committee on naval affairs today.

Congressional isolationists, finding support for their opposition among the peace organization's witnesses, reiterated threats of a "finish fight" against the 20 per cent bigger navy bill and announced new opposition to current plans for war profits legislation.

Their attitude on war profiteering laws was revealed when Chairman Andrew J. May, D. Ky., of the house military affairs committee, sought favorable action on a revised version of an anti-profiteering measure already on the calendar. Opponents of the bill maintained that it represented unnecessary surrender of congressional powers to the president and would not prevent profiteering because of a lack of tax provisions. As a result of disagreement in committee action was postponed until next week.

Hit 'Quarantine.'

Opposition to the war profits bill developed as witnesses for the national council bitterly criticized the naval program and the president's policy of "quarantining" aggressor nations as set forth in his Chicago address last fall.

Witnesses of the peace organization denounced the naval building program generally as unnecessary and as merely a prelude to a dangerous foreign policy.

Dr. Charles A. Beard, noted historian, said that Mr. Roosevelt's "quarantine" policy envisages a program for construction of huge battleships "to be used in aggressive warfare in the far Pacific or far Atlantic." He warned that the policy implies passing judgment on all European and Asiatic struggles.

Beard ridiculed "the idea of Germany, Italy or Japan sending a fleet of battleships conveying 500,000 soldiers across the seas."

Bruce Bliven, editor of the New Republic, another witness for the national council, agreed substantially with Beard, holding that the United States now possesses a navy not intended for defense of our own shores "but for aggressive action in all parts of the world."

Testimony at the hearings increased demands by congressmen for clarification of the administration's foreign policy, despite renewed asurances by Secretary of State Cordell Hull that the United States has no alliances or agreements with foreign countries for armed action

A Farmer's Diary

Feb. 9.

I ATE this afternoon I decided to reset a post which was badly out of line. A brush pile was a great obstacle. Planned to burn it, but found it was the shelter and home of many wild folk. I compromised by choosing another site

I pushed the long blade of the shovel into the sod with my foot. It required very little effort Then, with much greater energy, I lifted each spade full and placed it on a pile a short distance away. The top soil was dark and heavy with moisture. To go deeper, I used a broad bladed digging iron, which by constant plunging into the earth, loosened it, so that the shovel could bring it to the surface more easily.

I followed this process until the hole was three feet deep. Just as the last dirt was taken out, a cobblestone of average size fell from the surface to the bottom. I could not get it on the shovel at that depth, so I laid down flat and tried to reach it with one hand while the other clung to the sodded surface. I had caught the stone in my hand and raised it perhaps four inches, when the grass gave way from my other hand, and I slipped easily head first to the bottom.

Here was a rare plight. In fact I was in reverse Like those who have been at the north or the south pole I could look in but one direction. I struggled, but it availed nothing. Then I calmly took stock of my situation I looked up and felt I could almost see the stars I peered about my damp and grimy cell and breathed in the rare odor of the subsoil in springtime. My face was smeared and my mouth tasted the sticky clay. I had come to my own and my own received me ... I got out

The only other contest in the election was for the post of councilman-at-large. Three candidates were selected, Lee Adams, James Curry, and James McClure, all Liberals. The only candidate for this office on the Conservative ticket was Joseph Horath.

All other candidates on the Liberal ticket were elected into office in the "landslide" without opposition. Stahl is the son of Frank Stahl, captain at Fire Station No 4 Robert Meese, city solicitor, Frederick Lavender, auditor; Robert Brooker, First ward councilman, Robert Stevenson, Fourth ward councilman, and Robert Pore, Sixth ward councilman.

Councilmen for the remaining three city wards, as well as several other city offices were appointed by the scout board of elections at the scoutmasters meeting last night. These offices were filled by scouts who ran in the primaries, and the general election

Scouts appointed to office are Joseph Horvath, superintendent of waterworks; Ralph Zoll, superintendent of the sewage plant; John Gano, second ward councilman; Harry Laser, third ward councilman, and Albert Fillipelli, councilman of the fifth ward Scouts who will act as captains of the four fire stations will be named by Arlin.

Arlin is a member of troop No 8 at the First Congregational church, and is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold W. Arlin, Edgewood road. He is a member of the 11-A class at Senior high school, and first enrolled in scouting in October, 1933.

He became a first class scout in in 1934, a star scout in 1935, a life scout in 1936, and was awarded his eagle rank, the highest in scouting, in 1937. He was also one of the leaders at the scout summer camp last year. Besides being active in scout work, he is also a musician, playing a saxophone.

The "scout mayor" and his staff will be sworn into office Tuesday at 8 a m. by Municipal Judge G E Kalbfleisch, and will immediately take office. Men now holding the offices, will "relinquish" their positions to the scouts, but will act in an advisory capacity.

Candidates who ran in the election were nominated at a primary held last week, in which 35 scouts were candidates for nomination.

The election was supervised by a scout board of election made up of scoutmasters and assistants The board included J. R. Turner, Tom Metcalf, Jack Augustine, Carl Stough, and Earl Massa

Books For Children

Colts are appealing little animals and children will surely enjoy "Azam" by Irvin S. Cobb, for this slender little book has 80 splended photographs of an Arabian colt and his friends

On this famous Arabian horse farm, in southern California, colts are trained from their babyhood to do many things They go to school too and have report cards, just as small boys and girls do In kindergarten they first learn how it feels and what it means to be led by a strap, or a "lead line," then as they grow older they are introduced to a saddle and then to a rider All this takes time, of course, but after reading Mr. Cobb's new book, any one would have a good idea of how a horse is trained.

quire competitive bidding on coal purchases and this disclosure brought from Judge King yesterday the declaration that any official who disregarded the law should be "yanked out of office."

Testimony that three Athens county mine operators were required to contribute to the Democratic campaign fund while selling coal to the state was added today to the record of the senate investigating committee

Relatives of one operator testified they protested in vain to the governor's office, attorney general and auditor of state.

Mrs Enfa Savage and Mrs. Lottie Smathers of Buchtel said Charles Leisure, then a secretary to Gov Martin L Davey, "laughed at us and said there was nothing we could do except quit selling to the state.

Ralph Hartman of The Plains, Oliver Savage of Buchtel, and John W. Norris of Nelsonville testified they paid the late Dan Bardin, Athens county democratic chairman a commission of 30 cents a ton on coal they sold through him to the Athens state hospital

Paid To Committee.

Bardin, a coal jobber, deducted 20 cents a ton as his own fee and gave 10 cents a ton to the Democratic campaign fund, Hartman and Norris said. Savage said he had to pay 20 cents a ton to the Democratic committee.

Mrs. Savage and Mrs Smathers, wife and mother-in-law respectively of Savage, testified that Bardin gave them no more business after they protested.

Purchasing Agent Horn, they said, declined to permit them to sell direct to the state on the ground that "Bardin would give me hell"

Hartman said he was directed to Bardin by B. Frank Thomas, former purchasing agent, after Thomas declined to give him direct coal orders

All the witnesses said they were required to pay $1 for a year's membership in the Athens county Democratic club.

LAGGING TAXES 'PINCH' COUNTY

Auditor Sees 'Hand-to-Mouth' Existence This Year to Keep Out of Red.

Then in April more funds will be available from the personal tax collection.

"Much of our difficulty now is due to the low property valuation and the low tax rate in the county," the auditor continued.

Valuations have been cut twice in the past 10 years, and while the re-appraisal now underway is expected to boost the figures, the benefits will not be felt until next year, it was pointed out.

Wolfe said that any contribution from the county toward the relief fund at the present is out of the question. "Nothing can be spared from the general fund and even some of the special relief services, including tuberculosis treatment, may have to be curtailed before the year is over," he added.

HE SEES WHO BUYS WHAT TOBACCO

Like so many other independent experts, Bill Whitley, Tobacco Auctioneer of Henderson, N. C., smokes Luckies

WILLIAM D. (BILL) WHITLEY sold over 15 million pounds of tobacco last year. It's easy to see that he's an expert who knows tobacco.

So it's important to you when he says..."At 14 different markets in Georgia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Kentucky, I've seen Luckies buy the best tobacco. I figure it's good tobacco that makes a good smoke. So my own cigarette is Lucky Strike!

"I've noticed, too, that independent buyers not connected with any cigarette manufacturer, smoke Luckies more than any other brand."

Mr. Whitley is correct. For sworn records show that, among independent tobacco experts, Luckies have twice as many exclusive smokers as have all other cigarettes put together. Remember: The men who know tobacco best smoke Luckies 2 to 1.

HAVE YOU HEARD "THE CHANT OF THE TOBACCO AUCTIONEER" ON THE RADIO?

When you do, remember that Luckies use the finest tobacco. And also that the "Toasting" process removes certain harsh irritants found in all tobacco. So Luckies are kind to your throat.

One of the finest tributes to our democracy is that Mussolini doesn't think much of it.

Sometimes the girl marries the fellow to reform him—and occasionally they both seem to need it.

Fertilizer and explosives can be made out of the same material—growth or destruction, whichever you prefer.

More Thinking About Manager Plan.

LIKE it or not, the idea is steadily growing that within another few years Mansfield will act on the idea of adopting a charter and city manager form of municipal government.

While results have varied in cities that have already adopted the system, it is quite generally agreed that the plan has been successful in those cities which have been able to reduce partisan politics to a minimum.

The conclusion must therefore be reached that the complete political domination which now exists in a number of cities under the old form of government can be greatly improved in economy and efficiency by placing a competent manager in charge of city business.

Started in Staunton, Va., thirty years ago, the city manager plan has since been adopted by 465 cities, eighteen of which have 100,000 or more, population.

For the past several years an increasing number of Mansfield people have been thinking on this subject and gathering information regarding charters adopted in other Ohio cities. Men and women voters have shown equal interest in the idea, as has been the case in other cities in advance of any organized movement to bring a charter proposal to a vote.

It has become entirely clear, however, that no governmental system can be wholly successful unless it is given intelligent, continued public support, instead of being left to professional politicians.

Firestone Saw an Opportunity.

THE death of Harvey S. Firestone, pioneer in the rubber tire industry, serves to again direct attention to the rise of a farm boy to a position of industrial eminence, through taking advantage of opportunities for display of individual initiative and energy.

As a young man, witnessing approach of the automobile age, Harvey Firestone visioned the need for greater comfort than could be attained by solid rubber tires and overcame many obstacles in establishing and developing a great business that has provided employment for many thousands of persons.

That Mr. Firestone became wealthy in the process of advancement is merely incidental to his accomplishment, the important thing being that he possessed the qualifications of organization and leadership essential to the success of any large enterprise.

While efforts are being made to reshape America along lines of paternalism in government, it would be well to keep in mind that all progress thus far made has resulted from freedom of the individual to gain rewards commensurate with ability—and that the employment of millions of men and women has depended on the spirit and genius of such men as Harvey S. Firestone and other founders of what is now known as "big business."

Without such men, each doing the particular work for which he is best equipped, the United States might even now be a nation of universal poverty instead of one in which widespread comfortable living has already been made available to a large percentage of the population.

More Scientific Roadbuilding.

THE road builder has a large share in the job of making the nation's motor traffic safe, said Harold Hammond, of the National Conservation bureau in a recent address.

He pointed out that in the golden era of road building that followed 1925, the highways that emerged were regarded as masterpieces of the builder's art and science. Disillusion came fast. No sooner had the pavement hardened, than these roads became scenes of death and destruction on an unprecedented scale, and of maddening congestion as traffic density grew and movement slowed.

The modern, safe road is very different from the old highways. Mr. Hammond defines it in these words: "More roads mean more arteries on which to move people and goods efficiently. Better roads mean roads that will perform this basic job of transportation with less waste and less hazard than anything we have known in the past. In the language of the man in the street, we want roads that will give more mileage for our money, in terms of operating and maintenance cost, and we want roads that to the greatest possible degree will discount or eliminate the human factor as a cause of accidents."

Such roads have been built—and they work. They make it impossible for the driver to get out of his proper lane; there is no cross traffic; intersections are eliminated. Cars moving in opposite directions do not meet. Here, in better roads, is the indispensable step toward the logical solution of the traffic accident problem.

Risk Has Become Too Great.

FOR a long time it has been traditional that Lloyd's, the great English group of underwriters, will insure anything tangible or intangible. But that is no longer true. For some time British factories, docks, office buildings and private dwellings have been insured against destruction in war time. Now a new list of insurable goods of all kinds, in seaports and factories, is insured against damage from hostile aircraft. Exports and imports may be insured only while in transit. This is one of the curious agreements among underwriters not to insure property on land against war risks.

So we see what military aviation, in this supposedly civilized age, is doing to commerce and industry. The lesson is driven home by the devastation in Spain and China. Military bombing planes are the most destructive weapons yet developed, and growing more effective all the time. If our modern civilization is destroyed, it may be in this fashion.

Why all the talk about "collapsible houses"—the jerry-built sort seem to answer the purpose nicely.

ONE HOLDING COMPANY THAT SHOULD GO.

Foreign Policy As Stated By Secretary Hull

—By PRESTON GROVER

WASHINGTON—Regardless of whether the foreign policy of the government is clear to Senators Johnson and Borah, who questioned it, the state department officially stands by a summary made by Secretary of State Hull last July 16.

The summary comes in 14 points. Here they are, lumped together wherever it requires several sentences to cover one point. Just to help explain how the country is proceeding under each phase we are attaching sample instances here and there

1. This country constantly and consistently advocates maintenance of peace. (That always has been so).

2. We advocate national and international self-restraint. (Undoubtedly every nation would publicly subscribe to that).

3. We advocate abstinence by all nations from use of force in pursuit of policy and from interference in the internal affairs of other nations. (The Kellogg outlawry-of-war treaty, the Pan-American non-intervention treaty, the condemnation of Japanese invasion of China, likewise the Italian invasion of Ethiopia).

Treaty Sanctity.

4. We advocate adjustment of problems in international relations by processes of peaceful negotiation and agreement. (Hague and Pan-American arbitration treaties, Kellogg Pact).

5-6-7-8. We advocate faithful observance of international agreements. Upholding the principle of the sanctity of treaties, we believe in modification of provisions of treaties, when need therefore arises, by orderly processes carried out in a spirit of mutual helpfulness and accommodation. We believe in respect by all nations for the rights of others and performance by all nations of established obligations. (No nation would disclaim those high, moral purposes, and as a matter of fact this country has tentatively agreed to a revision of the Panama Canal treaty).

9-10-11. We advocate steps toward promotion of economic security and stability the world over. We advocate lowering or removing of excessive barriers in international trade. We seek effective equality of commercial opportunity and we urge upon all nations application of the principle of equality of treatment. (Reciprocal trade treaties, Open-Door in China, monetary stabilization agreement with England and France).

12. We believe in limitation and reduction of armament (Naval limitation treaties of 1922, 1930, 1936, and many official statements).

Armament Policies.

13. Realizing the necessity for maintaining armed forces adequate for national security, we are prepared to reduce or to increase our armed forces in proportion to reductions or increases made by other countries.

(The administration, right or wrong, surmises that potential enemies are building bigger fleets. Therefore this country is building fast and promising faster).

14. We avoid entering into alliances or entangling commitments but we believe in co-operative effort by peaceful and practicable means in support of the principles hereinbefore stated. (This is where the truble lies with Senators Borah and Johnson. The country, by its neutrality act, is theoretically pledged to hole up in time of war.

The administration, questioning that policy, prefers to exercise the nation's influence in keeping other nations at peace. Borah and Johnson like neither the role of gopher nor international Pollyanna).

Listen, World!

Just Sam?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

IT'S ONE of those stories that somehow you never read. Yet you'll find its duplicate in a thousand offices and homes. So if my fingers fumble and my eyes blur with grateful tears, maybe you'll understand — because you're lucky enough to have a Sam of your own.

Sam Paquin. For many a year that name has been over Tops newspaper jobs all over these United States. Now he's the final Blue Pencil Authority who checks copy in my organization. Reads it over . . . polishes it off . . . gets it down to the printers and off to the paper on schedule, no matter how late it arrives.

Some job—that! Riding herd on a hundred more-or-less loco writers . . . standing steady when the lids are popping off!

Does Sam ever, I wonder, get home on time for a meal? Bet not! Night after night I've seen him bending over his desk when everyone else has gone . . . helping some poor nut to make a desperate "deadline."

Being late with your copy—that's bad enough, with Empty Space yapping and yelling from Cape Cod to the Golden Gate. But there are things still harder to manage . . . things that only Sam knows. Sickness. Times when the Doctor has handed you a scare that would jolt the Empire State. Trouble in the family. Two operations, a wedding, a baby and a mortgage coming due all at once. Cripes!—how do they think you can manage to pay for it all? And the old heartache that never heals. Dates that, just remembering, get you down. That last smile . . . those ghastly hours . . . Perhaps if you'd acted sooner . . . done something else . . . OH GOD, LITTLE KID, I MISS YOU SO!

So you write, and write frantically . . . trying to beat the tap. Feeling it's all tripe . . . that you'd better quit

And then—careless like—in comes a letter from Sam. Never a mention of work. Just a friendly ramble about The Gang . . . a swell thing he'd heard some one say . . . how politics were stacking in Teneck . . . and the Kid Dolighter was doing herself proud with that new art assignment . . . and the Little Irish Wife was prettier than the day they'd married.

Only a careless, neighborly note. But looking out, into the night, you see a tired man bending over his desk. Staying in a cluttered, deserted office because your copy's late. Pounding out those steadying, kindly words because he knows you need a hand. Putting aside his own worry to serve yours. Soothing away your terror and giving you FAITH instead . . . faith to believe in yourself because Sam believes in you!

Just Sam! Suddenly, as though the tears had washed your eyes clean for a wider vision, you see that vast throng of other "Sams" who also serve through the long night. Patient, adoring mothers . . . loving, unselfish fathers . . . gallant youngsters, sacrificing their own chances to give someone a better break. Common folk—leading lives that may never make the Front Page. And yet, what was it He had said—He who knew best the beauty and valor of simple service? "Greater love hath no man than this, that a man lay down his life for his friends."

Clear through the night in a shining trail, more splendid than gold, more glorious than precious jewels, these unknown ones proceed upon their gentle way . . . "laying down," hour by hour, their constant gift of FAITH and CHEER and UNDERSTANDING TENDERNESS . . . giving themselves that others, distraught and bewildered, may live!

Just Sam! Dear Sams—all of you—what would this world be without you!

Timely Editorial

Public Benefits Thereby.

A gallon of gasoline purchased in January, 1921, cost 31.4 cents, excluding taxes.

A gallon of gasoline purchased in 1937 cost 14.3 cents, excluding taxes.

There are average figures.

And the United States News cites them to show that last year the American motoring public saved $3,000,000,000 because of the efficiency of the American petroleum industry.

The government did not contribute a cent or an idea to bring about the improvements in the manufacture and distribution of gasoline, which enabled the average motorist to fuel his car in 1937 for $103 less than it would have cost him to fuel it in 1921.

These improvements were brought about by the ceaseless efforts of the oil companies to increase their sales through lowering the price of gasoline to where people could afford to buy it.

That's the difference between private business, which can succeed only through constantly increasing its efficiency, and government business, which doesn't have to be efficient because it can always fall back on the taxpayers to make good its losses.—Detroit Free Press.

Keeping Step

Group Discussion of Hitler's Rise.

—By LESLIE EICHEL

Editor's Note—The following article will be of special interest to readers who heard Dr. Ethan Colton's lecture, "Behind the Headlines in Europe," last Monday evening, and reveals causes of Hitler's rise to power.

THE GROUP sat around the table talking of (a) Germany-Hitler; (b) navy programs; (3) small business, and (4) business generally.

The conclusions reached may be surprising. Here they are:

HITLER-GERMANY: There is a new book out in Europe (soon to be published in the United States), "One Man Against Europe." The man is Hitler. It is anti-Hitler. But a good case could be made out for the German people from it—the German people who turned to this hypnotist in desperation when, under democracy, democratic nations crushed them economically.

This book is mentioned for the facts here stated are conclusions reached also by the group sitting around the table.

The author of "One Man Against Europe," Konrad Heiden (a German who sought sanctuary in Switzerland), tells how a disappointed people turned to this man, who himself had struggled from a meager house painting job to become a leader, because he exemplified their own struggle. Bankrupt, defeated, hopeless, the people heard the lure of this nationalism that would make Germany heard and powerful. Here was a man who did not "waste time in conferences," but struck suddenly and ferociously, who placed blame and got rid of the blamed, who made Germany seem all powerful again.

IN THE BEGINNING—

At first the militarists, the big business men, the Junkers rejoiced in this man who "saved" them from socialism. But soon they saw that he was a mystic, a man who thought he had a mission for 60,000,000 people and their rallies. And the workings of his Nazism, so far as applied to operation of business, was not much different from the workings of a Socialist state—all orders came from the government.

Hitler went far afield from Germany. The Junker-military leaders were not sympathetic. An alliance with Mussolini of Italy at first had not been resented, but when it involved military adventures off the main course, such as in Spain, and further alliances, such as with Japan, a purely political move, there was resentment.

ARMY LEADERS OBJECTED

Army leaders, unimpressed with ideologies, did not like the Spanish venture, or the Japanese involvement. They dreamed of alliances altogether contrary to Nazism. They believed in a protective alliance with the Soviet Union! (Russia has a great army—and valuable raw resources).

What then would become of Hitler's chief cry, that Nazism was saving the world from Communism? How, with such an alliance, could Germany go on to infiltrate and possibly penetrate the lands to the east of her that "really belonged to her culture?"

The German military conservatives therefore have been wiped out. Hitler is supreme. The Nazis may try to claim much of the land to the east as their own. They even may fall out with Italy over Austria.

How can Hitler be checked? Through an economic alliance, which Britain sees, but which other nations, including the United States, do not. Once Germany has economic equality with other powers, the German people, essentially democratic and among the most cultivated peoples in the world, will turn away from Nazism, and be happy to sit peacefully around the dinner table.

And they, then, may regain some of the political independence which they surrendered, so utterly, to the Nazi freebooters.

At least, that was the answer arrived at by the folk around the table.

NAVY PROGRAM

The discussions continued. Nobody seemed in sympathy with the naval race. (Actually, who is?)

"But what else is to be done?" someone asked, and others nodded approval.

China was given as a example of a nation that had not protected itself.

Yet these armament races cannot continue. The people of each nation would be crushed under the burden. Other evils would arise. The worst leadership of each nation might rise to power. People would be plunged into terrible wars. They might surrender, or be deprived of all their rights, became virtual slaves.

But President Roosevelt's program was upheld. It was believed to be more of a "trading basis," or a warning (alas, that, too, always is dangerous). After all, it would take six years to build the additions to the American fleet. They might not, in the end, be built—except the necessary replacements. But the threat of what America COULD do might drive the belligerent nations into a compact to restrict armaments.

SMALL BUSINESS

Our group—NOT of large business—was not sympathetic to small business. It rather favored the monopoly or large corporation as being "reachable" and providing the better working conditions and merchandising.

It was believed—by the talkers around the table—that small business, to a large extent, was trying to turn the clock back, that it had seen its day, and that it was endeavoring to restrict economic and social progress to benefit itself.

Would it, however, be benefited? Suppose the government loaned money freely to small businessmen. Would that not engender such competition among themselves they would destroy themselves—and create turmoil in the vast economic nervous system?

BUSINESS GENERALLY

The group around the table was not optmistic over government fillips to trade generally. Such efforts were declared to be not fundamental, merely forms of inflation which soon wear out.

The housing bill was not looked upon as much of a hope.

A man who desires to build a house made the strongest assertion:

"People would build and buy without government aid if merely one thing were assured them—job security. Without that, no matter what aid, they will not build nor buy. The same is true of business. It does not need more credit. It has a superabundance of that. Nor is it assurance of government co-operation, or of being let alone, that it needs, as so often is said now.

"It all is deeper than that. Men (and business, too) need assurance that all who share in the production of wealth will share equally in it according to the product of their labor."

Health Advice

Sensible Hobby Aids Health.

—By DR. ROYAL COPELAND

RECENTLY I had an agreeable conversation with a well-known and successful doctor. We got along well because we were in full agreement, which doctors not always are! He stressed the importance of hobbies and their relationship to health. There can be no doubt that the evil effects of the stress and strain of life could be avoided if it were the universal practice to adopt and follow hobbies.

They promote mental and physical relaxation and, unquestionably, serve to prevent many nervous disorders. A real hobby acts like a tonic and is a builder of health.

It is the feeling of many physicians, particularly the nerve specialists, that many "nervous breakdowns" could be prevented by having genuine interest in things outside the daily duties. In this way the tired mind and body get great relief, rest and lowering of tension.

In the development of a hobby, there may be much of educational value. This is especially so as regards the specialized activities of young children. But, young or old, everybody benefits by a change of work and the relaxation that results from it.

List Is Endless.

Of course, a hobby cannot be forced upon the individual. The choice of a hobby depends entirely upon one's own likes and dislikes. Some find interest in books, paintings, photographs, gardening or stamp collecting, while others are more interested in exploring, modeling, canoeing, fishing, hunting or carpentry. It really makes no difference what the diversion is, so long as it holds the attraction.

I advise all parents to encourage the hobbies of the children. Never discourage a particular interest that a child may exhibit. Bear in mind that keen attention to a hobby, whatever it is, will build up for the child a valuable, pleasant and lasting pastime. It will keep his mind alert and satisfied, prevent irritability and smooth over many difficult moments.

A hobby need not be an expensive one. In many cities and communities there are clubs and civic centers which make a great feature of the hobbies. They cater both to children and adults. Attendance at hobby gatherings has aroused many a person and created a desire to go forward in the pursuit of an appealing hobby.

Let me warn you, however: The hobby should never become an obsession, taking too much attention and time; there can be too much of a good thing. It would be a pity to have the hobby become the means of exciting stress and strain by being overworked. But, when properly followed, it leads into the path of happiness and good health.

McIntyre's New York Day by Day

JACK PEARL is another comedian to achieve a wish-fulfillment by appearing shortly in a straight dramatic role. Al Shean, a low comic and surviving half of Gallagher and Shean, is an outstanding dramatic hit in the role of a kindly priest.

Pearl is last of the Dutch comedians to scramble the language in pop-bottle gurglings. Long after that Weberfieldian type of humor was extinct he was making a thousand or so a week exploiting topsy-turvey talk with his foil, Cliff Hall, on stage, radio and screen.

Like so many other of the dialect funsters, Pearl is a product of the [illegible] Side and arrived via Gus Edwards' kid revues. A shy fellow with a hang-dog wistfulness, he has been among the few to salt earnings when the going was good and is financially secure.

My favorite of all the old time Dutch comedians was Cliff Gordon, brother of the now top producer, Max Gordon. Cliff was a standard vaudeville act whose routine never changed in the 20 years I saw him. Yet he never failed to bring down the house.

The Astors—Nancy and Waldorf—hid away during a large part of their Florida vacation is a sequestered inn at the sea edge near Delray. Zoe Beckley, who was in similar seclusion finishing up some magazine pieces, was nearby and plopped into them several times. Lord Astor's chief interest centered in the trailer life so pronounced in that state. He could scarcely believe that people lived in them and had no other homes. So Zoe showed them around and introduced them to a few of the other half.

Zoe Beckley, fresh from an expert secretarial job in Wall Street, came to the Evening Mail as a sob sister cub shortly after I went on the staff. Buxom, apple-cheeked, with a zest for life and an infectious laugh she did much to brighten the drabness of that gloomy editorial haven. Once she got a real whiff of printer's ink there was no stopping her. In a few months she was writing by-line stories and her name was placarded in box car type on delivery wagon posters. I left the Evening Mail, at the abrupt request of the management, and the next I saw of Zoe was on deck of an ocean liner one moon-light night. She was one day out on way to interview Queen Marie of Roumania. The same night the ship headed into a 75 mile gale and as we limped into port, all a shade of pea green, Zoe wrote in my autograph book: "In memory of Mrs. Atlantic's permanent wave."

A favorite dish of the practised diner in the Chinese cafes is meat wormein, composed of Chinese vegetables, boiled noodles, a sprinkling of pork and a soupy goo poured over all. Since Earl Carroll transferred his talents to Hollywood I have been unable to keep up to the minute on Chinese emporiums. He was a bloodhound in scenting out such places. They are always excellent until the crowd discovers them and then they somehow become all alike. Tops at the moment is a place on Canal street near the Bowery.

Tribute: About the finest compliment ever paid an actor was bestowed on John Drew by Booth Tarkington. Said Tarkington: "Drew could play Simon Legree so that Legree became a misunderstood gentleman."

George Jean Nathan is the sole chain play reviewer. He is now official critic for Esquire, Newsweek and Scribner's but unlike the syndicated columnist, there is no master copy run in identical language. Each of the three departments is separately treated. Question: How far can Nathan carry this without repeating his own stuff?

 Thingumbobs: George Arliss thinks Bette Davis is the Katharine Cornell of the screen . . . The original manuscript of Theodore Dreiser's "An American Tragedy" is for sale at $3,500 . . . Paul Sann, a copy boy on the Evening Post a few months ago, recently had a by-line on a Page 1 story . . . J. B. Priestly is the only play author to make a curtain speech so far this season.*

Your Smiling Face.

Give me your smile today, I need
Its cheer; dark clouds drop low
And I must look to others for
The faith that I must know.

A smile from you whom I regard
So highly, this will be
A comfort and a refuge that
Will mean the world to me.

So let me see your face in smiles,
A simple thing to ask,
Yet it will help me, I will take
The vision to my tasks.

And I will find long last from it
New strength to go my way
With courage, find the hope I need
To win another day.

BIGAMY CASES RISE SHARPLY OVER BRITAIN

Judge on King's Bench Rates Situation as Similar to Disease Epidemic.

LONDON — (U.P.) — Bigamy apparently is increasing throughout Britain.

According to Mr. Justice Charles, judge of the King's bench division since 1928, bigamy this year is "an epidemic as bad as hoof-and-mouth disease."

Statistics show that except for the war and post-war periods, bigamy is more common now than at any other time in history. Nearly every one of the 20 country Assizes had at least one bigamy case during the autumn session, while the Old Bailey alone listed nine cases for the previous period.

Outnumber Women.

Several cases of bigamy in rural districts came to light when guilty women presented themselves to the court for the purpose of confessing. Percentages indicates that there are nearly three men to every woman bigamist.

Figures for 1935, the last completed record, showed 265 cases, compared with 256 for 1934 and 229 for 1933. Figures since those published in 1935 are expected to show a steady increase both for 1936 and 1937.

But they are not likely to overshadow the four "war years," 1915 to 1919. Those years bigamy averaged 495 per year whereas the four previous years had averaged only 128 per year.

Another huge increase in bigamy followed the war. Yearly averages for the period 1920 to 1924 were set at 506. Then followed a sharp decline.

Economic Status Factor.

According to authorities, many of the bigamy cases during the war were due to hasty marriages, sometimes after only a few days' friendship. Post-war cases are attributed to unsettled conditions and undisciplined spirits.

But today bigamy cases can be generally divided into two groups. First, men who make marriages a "racket," purely for the money involved; and second, those who cannot afford the costs of divorce, and who therefore take a chance on not being detected.

More lenient treatment of bigamists since the war also is believed to have led to an increase the number of offenders. In 1935 60 bigamists were released on their own recognizance.

Book of the Week

DRY GUILLOTINE: FIFTEEN YEARS AMONG THE LIVING DEAD," by Rene Belbenoit (Dutton; $3.)

Probably Rene Belbenoit's "Dry Guillotine" comes under the heading "great human document." It would make no difference whether this record of life, disease and death in France's "Guiana Hell" were fact or fiction. As a book to read and think about it would be a sort of modern wonder.

It appears to be fact. Belbenoit, a thief and, no mistake, was sent as a young man to Guiana. Now, more than 15 years later he is in America a broken, prematurely aged man still not sure that fate will not turn against him once more, and do him in. Should that happen, he will have left a record that can not very well be ignored.

It is not possible to summarize Belbenoit's book. There is too much detail, most of which interlocks with known fact in such a way as to indicate that the whole is in the main fact. There is, for example, the story of his contact with Blair Niles and her husband—Mrs. Niles got much of the material for her novel on the prison colony from Belbenoit, and (Belbenoit acknowledges gratefully) she paid him well for it. He wanted the money to finance yet another attempt at escape; that time he failed.

There were many attempts, all told in dramatic detail. The hardships seem, at this distance, almost incredibly melodramatic. But here again the detail interlocks with facts, and as a final corroboration, we have the actual presence of the escaped author in America.

In addition to the record of Belbenoit's life and torture in the prison colony, however, there is also a superb set of stories about the other inmates. These human records are told in detail, and are so numerous that the result is almost a psychological study of the criminal mind under bitter punishment, a study unparalleled in the experience of this reader.

There have been many Guiana stories, few so honest. As only one example, there are the facts of the hidden sexual life of the convicts. Even at their most revolting, the facts are too simply stated to be offensive. They can only be thought about.—J. S.

LEAN FORWARD AFTER HESITANT STOCK OPENING

Rails, Coppers and Steels Feature Light Trading; Carriers Supported.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Rails, coppers and steels leaned forward in today's stock market after a hesitant opening, but many other groups lacked rising vigor.

Dealings were light from the start, but advances up to a point or more predominated near the second hour.

Carriers received further support on expectations of a nearby freight rate decision from the interstate commerce commission.

Steels held their own as observers expressed the opinion that, while the cut in prices of cold rolled sheets may spread to other types of steel products, production volumes may jump sufficiently to more than offset reductions. Bonds and commodities were narrowly uneven.

On the cloudy side of the picture was the bank clearings survey for the week ended yesterday disclosing a drop in this barometer to the lowest level in more than four years.

The federal reserve board also reported department store sales for January were approximately 4 per cent under the 1937 month, but said the change from December was "slightly less" than the usual seasonal recession.

Stolen Jap Arms Plan Brought To London, Mag Says

LONDON (INS)—The mystery behind the visit to London of Capt. R. E. Ingersoll, chief of the American naval planning board, involves stolen plans outlining the new Japanese naval program, the London publication, "The Week" said today.

The magazine stated Ingersoll brought copies of the stolen plans to London, adding that these plans were obtained with great skill late in November by American intelligence officers operating in Tokyo after British agents had failed to obtain them.

Stealing of the plans, according to "The Week," ended the dangerous "Anglo-American and Japanese policy of the Japanese navy" [illegible].

The plans were sent to Washington by the agent who managed to copy them, the magazine said, and Ingersoll came to London to explain the plans to the British admiralty.

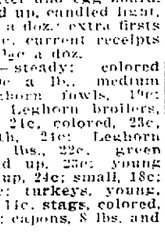
NO NEED OF IT



"I should have taken Father John's Medicine at the start of my cold instead of allowing it to hang on this way. I knew better; I've used it before."

For the past 83 years Father John's Medicine has been used successfully by millions for colds and body building. Its best advertisement is the word-of-mouth endorsement of those who have used it and recommended it to others. It must be good. Now, when colds are prevalent, don't delay taking Father John's Medicine.

LOANS $25 TO $1000

"I was temporarily hard pressed for funds because having a lot of burdensome payments and scattered bills to annoy me that stood in my way."

It was a pleasant surprise to find a concern so willing to finance my needs on the kind of terms I could well afford. It was just like writing my own ticket. I left the matter in my own hands, summed up my needs in the amount I required and The City Loan helped me out of a tough situation."

BOSTON WOOL

BOSTON—(AP)—(U. S. Dept. of Agr.)—Only small quantities of fine domestic wools were moving in the Boston market yesterday. Prices were showing a weakening tendency in fine territory wools. Graded French combing fine territory wools have been sold at prices ranging 65 to 68 cents, scoured basis. Good French combing fine territory wools were being offered quite freely in original bags at around 65 cents, scoured basis. Demand was very slow at these quotations.

day after visiting several rural classrooms in Springfield, Madison and Weller townships yesterday.

Calls In Help.

Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county public health commissioner, said he had called in three Mansfield physicians to assist in the immunization program until it was completed, after Dr. Finley Van Orsall, chief of the communicable disease division of the state department of health had recalled Drs. Ernest Huber and A. W. Thomas late yesterday.

The three physicians, Drs. W. W. Pierce, F. M. Wadsworth and E. T. Sager, with Dr. Rehder and Dr. Paul Baird, assistant commissioner went to Bowman street school this morning. Rehder said it was hoped that all school children will have been vaccinated by tonight, before moving back to the county schools.

He said the health department offices in the city building would continue to remain open in the evenings until 9 p. m. for persons wanting to be vaccinated. He urged all industrial firms, stores and offices to have their employes immunized.

While the state health department regarded the situation here as not of epidemic proportions, Dr. Rehder said he felt deep concern over the matter and again urged all persons who have not been successfully vaccinated within the past five years to do so at once.

At Shelby, Health Commissioner B. H. Moffat today urged the vaccination of all persons in the city.

"While there are no cases of smallpox in Shelby at this time, but owing to its prevalence in surrounding communities it is necessary to take these precautions at this time," he said.

A vaccination clinic will be set up in the Shelby public schools Friday for the purpose of inoculating children who are unable to be vaccinated by their family physician he added. However, no one will be immunized at the clinics without the written permission of their parents, and parents were urged to return to school nurses the permission slips that have been distributed.

THEATER

PRODUCTION NOTES: "The Divorce of Lady X," which Alexander Korda is making in England with Merle Oberon, and which will be released in America through United Artists, is being done in colors, and as a result America will see a London fog as it really is—a thick pea-soup color . . . Charlie McCarthy went high hat and demanded a stand-in, according to his "voice," Edgar Bergen, when the two of them signed up for the Goldwyn Follies, so Bergen whittled one out in his spare moments . . . Another interesting Technicolor film in production is Mark Twain's "Adventures of Tom Sawyer," which will be made with all of the principal roles played by children, the first of its kind ever made.

The American Alps.

When Hollywood wants to photograph the Alps, it goes to the Cascade mountains in Washington, and it is peaks in this range that form the background for "Paradise For Three," opening at the Madison today for the remainder of the week. A replica of one of the famous resorts in the Alps was erected in Washington and to all purposes the audience is transported to the winter wonderland of Switzerland. The action includes a lot of winter sports and revolves around three men who go to the resort to live—for a few weeks—as they want to. The rich man becomes poor, the poor man has all the money he can spend, and the third poses as a man of power and wealth. The cast includes Robert Young, Florence Rice, Frank Morgan, Herman Bing, Reginal Owen, and Mary Astor.

Romance In Village.

Heart interest and humor are neatly blended in "Wise Girl" which brings Miriam Hopkins and Ray Milland to the Ohio theater for the last three days of the week. Romance develops between a social registerite and a poor young man. Neither are married and yet their fight centers around the custody of two children. The girl feels that they should live with her and their wealthy grandfather—until she works her way into the confidence of the two children and the young man, and finds out how much they mean to each other. The heroine's double dealing, and her ingenuous schemes for making a living in Greenwich Village under an assumed name, a prize fight and a framed arrest, all add to the tempo of the story. Walter Abel, Henry Stephenson and Guinn Williams are in the cast.

Murder On Parade.

"Squadron of Honor," played against a background of parading American Legionnaires, with murder as the motivating theme, will be one of the new features tomorrow at the Majestic theater. Don Terry, a two-fisted leading man, heads the cast, with Mary Russell and Thurston Hall. Hall plays the national commander of the American Legion who is murdered, and Robert Warwick is seen as a munitions king. There is a murder while the Legion marches in annual parade and terror spreads as the bugles blow, and 100,000 Legionnaires go on a man hunt. Tom Tyler in "The Feud of the Trail" is a Western film on the same bill.

Dr. Moto at Ritz.

Another adventure of Mr. Moto comes to the Ritz screen tomorrow and Saturday when "Think Fast Mr. Moto" is presented there, with Peter Lorre in the title role of the Saturday Evening Post story. This was the first of the Mr. Moto series which 20th Century-Fox is making based on the popular series of stories. Virginia Field, Thomas Beck and Sid Rumann have important roles. The action swings from San Francisco's torturous alleys to Shanghai's dens in tracking one of the craftiest criminals in modern crime annals. The "Three Mesquiteers" in "Heart of the Rockies" is the second picture.

Bob Burnses Get Chance To 'Go To Town' On Sunday

Embryonic Bob Burnses of Mansfield will have an opportunity to "go to town" with their bazookas and other home-made musical instruments this week-end in connection with a contest which the Madison theater is conducting.

Sunday the theater will present the hillbilly film, "Swing Your Lady," which features the popular radio hillbilly artists, the Weaver Brothers and Elviry, who are making their first screen appearance in this picture.

All sorts of funny, home-made instruments are used by the band, and the Madison will offer three cash prizes for the best act in which a player uses a home-made musical instrument. Acts will be judged on the basis of acceptability and each act accepted will be presented in a stage show in connection with the film which opens its engagement Sunday.

The instruments will be on display in the lobby of the theater between shows. Entrants must register at the theater before the contest.

Edgar Ansel Mowrer, himself the author of a book on Nazi Germany, "Germany Puts the Clock Back," was the chief correspondent in Berlin for the Chicago Daily News until 1933. He now is chief of the Daily News bureau in Paris.

PERSONAL TAX BLANKS MAILED

Personal tax blanks had been mailed today from the county auditor's office to the more than 100 industrial concerns in Richland county preparatory to the collection of the first-half 1938 personal levies.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe said blanks will be available to individual tax payers at his office after March 1. Although definite dates for the collection of personal taxes have not been set, payments probably will be received without penalty until about April 20, Wolfe added.

AGAIN THE PUBLIC PROFITS

You know what happens when business gets caught with a BIG INVENTORY.

It's better to cut prices and unload; to carry over CASH, not stock.

Local used car dealers have been caught with an over - supply of used cars due to heavy trade-ins on the new '38's, a mild winter, and the curtailed number of purchasers because of unemployment, etc.

To cut the stock dealers have "C U T" the prices, and that's no ad writer's "talk." These men mean business. Probably never again will you be able to buy a car so cheap.

Probably never again will you get as good a selection!

SPEAKS ON CAPE TOWN AT SAPPHO MEETING

Mrs. J. H. Finefrock Gives Historical Background of South African City; Old English Music on Program.

THE USUAL PROGRAM of musical numbers and a paper on a famous city was presented yesterday at the Women's Club when Sappho club members met. Opening the program Mrs. W. E. Renwick presented the music notes and then she and Miss Thelma Reed offered the piano suite.

"Taccato" by DeBussy was the opening number given by Miss Reed. For her part of the program Mrs. Renwick played "Sarabande" and "Bouree" by Bach. Mrs. J. H. Finefrock presented her paper, "Cape Town—Tavern of the Indian Ocean."

Beginning by tracing the historical background of the city and telling of its early establishment by the Dutch as a place for refitting ships going around the cape, Mrs. Finefrock brought the city up to the modern day. She told of the modern harbor and the up-to-date educational system and then described the University of Cape Town.

It is a mixed population, she pointed out, and 63 per cent of all the exports of South Africa pass through the port. For description Mrs. Finefrock spoke of the beautiful home of Cecil Rhoades and the resort places along the cape. The latter part of the talk was given in the manner of a guide who was taking the club members around the cape by motor.

Miss Helen Hartmann offered three vocal numbers. Her first two selections were old English numbers and were "The Jolly Miller" and "When Love Is Kind." The final number was "When I Am Laid In Earth," a 17th century piece by Purcholl.

The club will meet next at the home of Mrs William Hazeltine, 145 Highland avenue, Feb. 23.

Maybe This Is Why You're Constipated

Perhaps the kind of food you eat doesn't give your bowels anything to work on. Meat, potatoes and bread don't form the kind of soft, bulky mass that will help move your bowels.

If so, a dish of crisp, crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast will give you just the kind of "bulk" your intestines may need to work properly. And in addition it contains the intestinal tonic, vitamin B1, which helps to tone them. If you want to get at the cause of your trouble, eat some Kellogg's All-Bran every day—as a cereal or baked in muffins. And drink plenty of water. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

She Loves Boy Who Plainly Doesn't Care

By VIRGINIA LEE

"What would you do in a case like this?" asks Disgusted. She has been going with a man for over two years. He used to see her every night, but has been coming less and less often, until now she only sees him for one hour about once a week, and then he is always in a hurry to leave.

His people despise her, she writes. He goes out every night, but will not take her. He accuses her of "stepping out" on him, and thinks she should stay home so that he may find her there when —or if—he comes. Then when she knows he isn't coming that evening, it is too late for her to go out. He never takes her to meet his friends, and pleads he has business to attend to when she wants to go out with him.

When they are together this fervent lover quarrels with Disgusted and is very cool and sarcastic. Now he is threatening to leave town and she is trying to coax him not to go and says she will miss him, as she thinks a great deal of him.

I used the expression, "you must be a glutton for punishment" once in this column. Disgusted, and someone wanted to know what it meant. You are the perfect example.

A man shows you as plainly as he possibly can that he cares nothing for you; that he doesn't enjoy your company. He makes all sorts of excuses so that he won't have to go to see you or take you with him—and yet you stay at home just in case he should happen to condescend to come.

"Wake up and live," my dear. Make up your mind that you are not going to wait around for this man any longer. You wouldn't be very happy with him if his people despise you and he is ashamed to have you meet his friends. And you certainly cannot be your most attractive self when you are constantly criticized. Go out with people who appreciate you, and forget about this young man.

"Dear Virginia Lee: I am a young unmarried mother. I love the father of my baby dearly. He says he loves another girl and he is about to announce their marriage. What should I do about it?

"Do you think it is wise for me to keep taking the baby to his home, as his mother and father ask me to? Or to stay away until after he is married? He says he is not the father of the baby, but still he wants the baby. His mother says he is the father.—J."

You surely are the one to tell who is the father of your baby. I think you should insist upon his marrying you to give the baby his name, and his father and mother should help, even if you separate later. This is the least he can do. The girl he is planning to marry should know about you and the baby. She probably will not want to marry him under the circumstances.

Hats No Saner---But More Wearable

Early previews of spring chapeaus indicate that the bonnets will be no saner than in previous seasons but much more wearable. One of the new spring hats is shown above. It is made of deep brown saturn braid in a Watteau bonnet style with a deep snood of self material. The trimming is a velvet bow which hangs down upon the model's hair behind and one natural looking pink rose with leaves and bud. This hat is typical of the mode in that it shows the flower trim. Blossoms being chosen for hats this season are iris, orange blossoms, and maiden hair fern, as well as life size apples and cherries and cherry blossoms.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I need not have worried about Mary's attitude toward her preparations for going to the city. She was being temperamental about getting away from the farmhouse, the scene of her emotional parting from Noel, but the mechanics of the transfer interested her not at all. As I came to her bedside, where Miss Whitlock had again propped her up with pillows, she put up her lips for a kiss, and then waved to the chair beside her bed with a nonchalant gesture.

"This is really all poppycock showing me that list, Auntie Madge," she said. "I don't care—whatever it is the tinker has—what I take into the city. You know what I'll need in there better than I do. Why don't you just go ahead and have Katie throw 'em into a bag?"

"Nevertheless, you're going to look this list over," I said firmly. "It won't take you five minutes, and Miss Whitlock assures me that you're perfectly fit. If you weren't I'd attend to it, but as 't is, you really must choose what you want to take with you."

Mary Won't Obey.

"All right, all right, Missus Simon Legree," she said, wrinkling her nose at me, and extending her hand for the book, which I handed to her open at the page which began the inventory of her belongings. But she accidentally closed it, and I spoke quickly to save her annoyance.

"Page 64," I said.

She dropped the book on the coverlet and, looking at Miss Whitlock, spread her hands with a gesture expressing burlesqued awe.

"I ask you," she said. "Did you ever see a woman like her? I believe she carries in her head not only every page inventory number, but a list of the belongings of every member of the household."

"Don't be absurd, Darling," I said mechanically. "Turn to page 64 and check your belongings. I have pad and pencil with me. If you'll read them out, I'll write them down, and we'll be finished in no time."

But instead of obeying my injunction, she turned the pages of the book with interest.

"You ought to look at this, Miss Whitlock," she said. "It's a model for every housewife. Every member of this family has a section of this book, divided into winter and summer clothing, and every single bit of wearing apparel, from Grandma Graham's woolies to Uncle Dicky's white flannels, are listed in detail, with a description of the box—with its number—in which the things are stored. Just listen to this, for instance: Page 59. Junior. Winter clothing. Box No. Eight. One best winter overcoat, one second best winter overcoat—"

"Mary!" I said sharply. "Miss Whitlock is not interested — or amused."

"Oh! but I am interested," the nurse protested, "especially in your system of moth protection. I know you must have a superlative one, with that way of listing."

Frightens Moths

"She has," irrepressible Mary declared saucily at me. "Every spring the winter woolens are cleaned, sprayed with moth preventative, wrapped in separate bundles, a layer of newspaper, and then a layer of mothproof paper, tied into compact bundles and tagged with labels corresponding to the inventory. In the fall they come out unscathed. Then the process is repeated with all the summer woolens. I don't believe Auntie Madge has seen a moth since she began keeping house."

As always, when Mary is in a bantering mood, my annoyance was smothered in laughter at her nonsense. But I stretched out my hand and laid it across the page from which she was reading.

"If you wish to go on inflicting this on Miss Whitlock," I said, "I have no objection. But if you wish me to get your things ready, the only condition on which she will permit you to go, you will turn to page 64 immediately. Otherwise I must leave you until you are ready for me."

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, Feb. 11.

According to the predominate planetary influences, there may be a change, upset or travel in connection with new or distant affairs. These would be advantageous providing the tendency to frivolity, indulgence or other forms or rash or impetuous conduct are held in leash. Shun quarrels, passion, jealousy or enmity, and deal considerately with old folks and carefully in old matters, business and social, affectional or domestic.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of change, with strange or distant matters promising benefits providing the tendency to indulgence, frivolity and rash adventures in pursuit of folly be shunned. These may incite enmity, jealousy, even quarrels, passion or other tempestuous and impulsive manifestations wholly detrimental.

A child born on this day may be energetic, wilful and wayward, prone to self-indulgence and the extravagant pursuit of pleasure. It may be impetuous and quarrelsome and, at the same time, good-natured and full of fun. It may have a public career, possibly in the amusement world

Courtesies Between Host, House Guests

By EMILY POST

Dear Mrs. Post: Just how far may a guest go in asking a hostess for "necessities" which she has neglected to provide? In my particular situation, we found ourselves eating food that was badly in need of salt and not one in the party could bring himself to asking her. I finally concluded it was simply silly not to enjoy what could be a very delicious meal by the addition of salt, and asked the maid if I might have some salt. Immediately she brought a number of salt cellars to the table and that is all there was to it. This occasion was a big buffet party.

Answer: Asking for salt in America offends very few, if any, hostesses. I have known houses abroad, where the request for salt or pepper or any other condiment would have been considered almost an insult to the excellence of the cook. In fact, they would have been hurt had the salt, which stood in front of a guest, been used to change the flavor. In the case you speak of it seems evident that whoever set the table forgot the salt cellars. You were quite right to ask for them.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a friend comes to pay one of our family an expected visit, would it be impolite if our maid, after answering the door, left him standing outside until she went to find out whether the person asked for was actually at home, or even willing to be at home at the time? So often such unexpected visits are made at an inopportune time. On several occasions the mail has admitted such visitors to the front hall and then discovered that that member of the family was not in, and at these times it seemed only polite that at least some one in the family greet the visitor. This procedure is not always convenient either.

Answer: To leave a visitor standing outside your front door while the maid goes to find out if you are at home is abominably rude. In fact, the only time when a person is left outside the front door is when the maid is afraid that he may be an imposter. Also, it is very rude to ask the name and then come back and say that the lady of the house is not at home. When you are not at home you should not be at home to every one. That means if you are busy or not ready to receive people then the message "not at home" is given to every one.

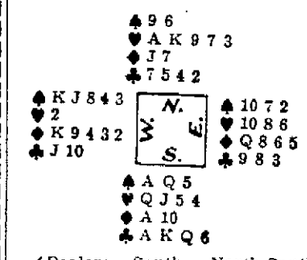
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

NOT ALWAYS AN ASSET

What is ordinarily an asset can sometimes be a liability. In bridge this is particularly true of the chance to lead. It is of value because most of the time the opportunity to choose the suit enables you to play your own side's game instead of the opponents'. But sometimes having the lead is a liability because it necessitates pitching into the other fellow's tenace or choosing the equally bad alternative of giving him a ruff and discard.



(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

Three different results were achieve dat three different tables in a duplicate on this deal, all playing for a 6-Hearts contract.

Up to the seventh trick they varied greatly. The club J was the opening lead, won with the A. The hearts Q, J and A were led, followed by the clubs K, Q and 7. At one table, the spade finesse was now tried. The K won and the spade J was returned to South's A. The spade 5 was ruffed, the heart 9 cashed and the diamond A, but a diamond was lost in the end, setting the contract one trick.

At table 2, at the eighth trick, the diamond A was cashed and the 10 led, which West won with the K. He was obliged to return a spade, so that South made his contract.

At table 3, when South cashed his diamond A and then led the diamond 10, West decided to take the chance that his partner held the Q. He therefore ducked. East won and returned a spade and, as the finesse had to be taken, South was set one trick.

Tomorrow's Problem.

How would you play to make 6-Diamonds on this deal after the lead of the heart K?

Spanish rice makes an unusual stuffing for pheasant, duck or chicken. You brown one-fourth of a cup of chopped onions and chopped green peppers in one-fourth of a cup of bacon. When the combination is well browned add two cups of cooked rice and one cup of tomato juice. Let simmer until thick. Add a teaspoonful of poultry seasoning and a little chopped parsley and stuff the fowl.

Cabbage contains valuable vitamins and frequently should be eaten raw or cooked until tender. Never cook cabbage until it has changed in color, as it then will be indigestible.

TAKE WEIGHT OFF TIRED FEET

Lose Fat The Easy Way—Without Starvation Diets, or Back-Breaking, Bending and Rolling Exercises.

If your feet and ankles feel tired and aches all over—because you are carrying too much fat—do something about it. Try the treatment that has helped millions to reduce excess weight.

There's a reason why so many people find dieting slow and often times futile in reducing. The reason, doctors say, is often because a little gland is not working right.

All the blood in your body goes through this tiny gland sixteen times every day. If it doesn't pour into the blood stream about one and one-half drops of vital fluid every 24 hours, many people take on ugly fat. This fluid helps Nature to "burn up" excess food and fatty tissue in much the same way as a good "draft" acts in a furnace.

Now, physicians combat this condition by feeding this gland the substance it lacks—and millions of pounds of excess fat has been wiped out in this way.

Marmola Prescription Tablets contain the same element prescribed by most doctors in treating their fat patients. So don't waste your time or money striving to reduce with starvation diets or back-breaking exercises. Start the Marmola treatment today that millions have used to get rid of excess fat. The formula is in every box so you know just what you are taking. Don't wait—get a box of Marmola today from your druggist.

EARLY FILING OF INCOME TAX RETURNS URGED

Deputy Collectors Point to March 15 Deadline, Warn of Last Minute Rush.

With March 15 as the deadline for income tax returns, deputy collectors for the United States internal revenue department, with offices in the Mansfield postoffice, today urged the early filing of returns.

Deputy Albert L. Wentz, who is assisted by Charles S. Mosey, said that early filing would relieve the last minute rush experienced annually at the office and save time for both the taxpayer and the office staff.

In addition, he pointed out that persons who have questions concerning their returns can be given more efficient service if they call at the office before the rush starts.

Explains Who Must File.

Wentz explained that returns must be filed by "unmarried persons with a net income of $1,000 or more, or a gross income of $5,000 or more, and married persons who had a net income of $2,500 or more, or a gross income of $5,000 or more during 1937."

He said the office would be open daily from 8:30 a. m. until 4:30 p. m. with the exception of Tuesday and Wednesday when the hours will be from noon until 4:30 p. m.

Among suggestions given to filers by Wentz were the following "don'ts":

Don't prepare your return without first studying the instructions accompanying the blanks and being certain that the proper form is being filled out.

Don't delay in filing returns early because early attention will permit careful consideration of all problems.

Don't omit explanations when such information is essential for intelligent audit of your return.

Attach memoranda to your return.

Don't destroy the memoranda from which your return was prepared.

INCOME TAX IN NUTSHELL

NO. 15

Losses on Stock Transactions.

No gain or loss is recoguized for income-tax purposes as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in a corporation solely for stock or securities in another corporation in pursuance of a plan of reorganization to which both corporations are parties or as a result of the exchange of stock or securities in a corporation solely for stock or securities in the same corporation in connection with a recapitalization.

Where money or other property is received along with such exchanges, no loss is recognized, although a taxable gain may result. The statute also prohibits the deduction for any loss from the sale or other disposition of stock or securities where the taxpayer, within a period of 30 days before or after the date of sale or other disposition, acquires or enters into a contract or option to acquire substantially identical stock or securities.

AWAITS BRIEFS IN TRAIN CASE

Opposing counsel in the pending application of the Pennsylvania railroad for approval of its discontinued daily passenger train between Mansfield and Toledo today had been given 30 days in which to file briefs with the Ohio Public Utilities commission,

The commission will not rule on the application until the briefs have been filed, United Press dispatches from Columbus said. Oral arguments in the case have been concluded.

The train involved in the application filed by the railroad was discontinued several weeks ago. Formal approval of the action was sought in the railroad's petition.

CLAMPS ON LID AT HONOR FARM

Head of Grafton Prison Acts After Inmate 'Confesses' Slaying of Girl.

Supt. C. H. Swan of the Grafton honor farm said today that rigid restrictions had been placed on prisoners at the farm following the alleged "confession" of Edward Hensley, 23, a trusty and former Mansfield reformatory inmate, that he assaulted and murdered Miss Louise Hornbeck last October.

"We've clamped down all the way around," Swan said. "No longer will prisoners be allowed out of the dormitory after dark. We're keeping a closer watch to see that none make beer-buying trips to Grafton."

A Lorain county grand jury will convene tomorrow to investigate Hensley's "confession," the third since the 19-year-old girl was found murdered near her home at Grafton Oct. 18.

One of the two youths who previously admitted the crime was found insane, and officers discredited both of the earlier "confessions."

Employed at the camp as a "house man," Hensley admitted that he attacked another girl in Grafton last Friday night Attaches of the camp said he had been absent for a time that night and also the night Miss Hornbeck was killed.

Hensley, whose home is in Youngstown was transferred to the Grafton camp about 18 months ago He is under a 10-to-25 year sentence in the Mansfield reformatory for robbery.

WATER BILL TOO HIGH? HERE'S SIMPLE WAY TO CHECK METER

As a service to water consumers in combatting excessive water bills caused through faulty plumbing or inaccurate water meters, Fred E. Lingafelter, secretary of the water, sewer and garbage department, today prepared a letter that will be sent to persons whose meter readings show unusual increases over previous months.

The letter will list the current meter reading and the total amount of the bill. As a comparison, the amount of the three previous readings also will be noted Included in the letter are instructions for conducting a simple test to check for faulty plumbing or inaccuracy in the meter.

Lingafelter explained that it had been the policy of the department for some time to call the consumer on the telephone when a marked increase was shown in water consumption Because some cannot be reached by this method, he said he drafted the form letter.

In checking for faulty plumbing, Lingafelter calls the water consumer's attention to the small circular dial on the face of the meter reading one cubic foot

"Shut off all water faucets so that no water is running," the instructions read "Then watch the cubic foot dial to see that it does not revolve Should the dial move while all faucets are off, it is an indication of leaky plumbing.

"To test the meter after you are assured that the one cubic foot hand is not moving, scratch a mark on the edge of the dial opposite the hand Draw off 7½ gallons of water (which is approximately one cubic foot) and then check the cubic foot hand to see if it has made one complete revolution. If it hasn't, the meter is running slow and if it has gone past the mark, the meter is running fast."
